The background of the cover is a photograph of a grand, classical-style building with a portico supported by six white columns. The building is set against a backdrop of a large, rugged mountain with a prominent peak. The sky is filled with soft, colorful clouds, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. In the foreground, a wide set of stone steps leads up to the building, with several people walking on them. The overall scene is a mix of natural beauty and architectural grandeur.

Guide to the usage of this Handbook

The following is a general overview of the structure of this Handbook for the guidance of users. The contents are organised in a number of different sections (see below) each of which has a particular focus. The sections are interlinked by cross-references where relevant.

- (a) General Information: This section includes information on Faculty officers, the list of qualifications offered, a guide to terms and codes, and lists of the various prizes, medals and scholarships awarded on academic merit.
- (b) Faculty and qualifications rules: This section covers the Faculty rules and the rules which apply to each of the various qualifications and programmes offered by the Faculty. These rules should be read in conjunction with the general University rules in the General Rules and Policies Handbook (Handbook 3). Students are expected to acquaint themselves with the rules in both Handbooks and to check annually whether the rules or curriculum requirements have changed since the last edition.
Important rules: All students must familiarise themselves with the Qualification and Programme Rules in this Handbook. In addition, students must refer to Handbook 3, General Rules and Policies and particularly take note of the following:
 - rules relating to registration and examinations;
 - rules relating to changes of curriculum;
 - rules relating to leave of absence;
 - rules on Academic Conduct, N.B. the rules concerning dishonest conduct and plagiarism.

Detailed information on the undergraduate entrance requirements can be found in the University Prospectus. The PhD Degree rules are published in Handbook 3, General Rules and Policies.
- (c) Courses: This section contains entries for each department, school or unit in the Faculty, and for departments outside the Faculty whose courses are frequently taken by Humanities students. Each lists members of staff, the structure of majors, and the courses which are offered by the department, school or unit. Course descriptions are set out in alpha-numeric order based on the course code prefix.

Abbreviations and Definitions

Augmenting course:

Augmenting courses are linked to a standard semester subject course and are co-requisite to the semester subject course for students undertaking particular programmes of study. Augmenting courses provide students in these programmes with extra academic support.

Co-requisite course:

A subject course for which a student must be registered concurrently with another course.

DP requirements:

The classwork and test results which must be achieved in order to be allowed to write the examination in a course (DP = duly performed; DPR = duly performed refused).

Exemption:

Exemption from a course means a student is not required to take the course. This may be granted where a student has demonstrated learning outcomes/ mastery of content required for the qualification. Exemption from a course does not confer exemption from the course, credit or attendance requirements for qualification and students will be required to take an alternative course in lieu (normally at the same academic level as the exempted course and with an equivalent credit-weight). Exemption can also be used to meet pre-requisite requirements for entry to a higher level course in a particular discipline/ subject.

Extended degree and diploma programmes of study:

Structured programmes of study towards a qualification for students selected on the basis of admissions criteria who show the potential to succeed on a programme of study with additional academic support. Students registered for extended programmes of study take additional courses for academic support and complete their qualifications over an extra year.

Finalist:

A student who is expected to complete all requirements for their degree in the year of registration.

Introductory Humanities courses:

A course providing a general orientation to language, numeracy, learning practices and key concepts in the Humanities. These courses introduce concepts and skills relevant across the Arts and Social Sciences. These courses carry DOH or MAM course codes.

Major:

A sequence of subject courses at first, second and third-year levels defined by the Department teaching the course as a major in that subject.

NQF credits, HEQSF qualification levels and HEQSF course levels:

All South African tertiary institutions are required to align their qualifications with the prescriptions of the national Higher Education Qualifications Sub-Framework, which forms part of the National Qualifications Framework (NQF). Each qualification has an exit level and is required to have a minimum number of HEQSF credits at that level. One credit equals 10 notional hours of learning.

The HEQSF requires the following credits per qualification:

- Higher Certificate (exit level 5): Minimum 120 credits.
- Advanced Certificate (exit level 6): Minimum 120 credits.
- Diploma (exit level 6): Minimum 240 credits.
- Advanced Diploma (exit level 7): Minimum 120 credits.
- Bachelor's degree of 3 years (exit level 7): Minimum of 360 credits. Minimum credits at level 7 (i.e. third-year level): 120. Also includes level 5 (1st year) and level 6 (2nd year) credits.
- Bachelor's degree of four years (exit level 8): Minimum of 480 credits. Minimum credits at level 7 (i.e. third-year level): 120; minimum credits at level 8 (fourth-year level and above): 96.

Part-time student:

A bona fide part-time student in a postgraduate course of study.

Prerequisite course:

A subject course which a student must have completed in order to gain admission to a senior or subsequent course.

Programme of study:

A structured and purposeful set of learning experiences that leads to a qualification, e.g. the extended degree programme leading to the Bachelor of Arts qualification.

Qualification:

Certification awarded by an accredited institution in formal recognition of learning achievement. The Faculty offers Higher Certificates, Advanced Certificates, Diplomas, Advanced Diplomas, Postgraduate Diplomas, Bachelor's Degrees, Honours Degrees, Master's Degrees, and Doctoral Degrees.

All qualifications are accredited nationally by the Council for Higher Education (CHE) and are registered by the South African Qualifications Authority (SAQA).

Semester course:

A course which runs for the duration of a single semester, and which is equivalent to half of a full-year course. A course with a duration of one semester is usually coded F or S; a course covering a semester's work but spread over the year is usually coded H. A whole-year course (usually coded W) is equivalent to two semester courses.

Subject course:

A course situated in a particular subject area or discipline.

Senior course:

A subject course which requires prerequisite(s) to be completed in a previous year and which the Faculty of Humanities has recognised as having senior status.

Specialisation:

A structured curriculum within a qualification, e.g. the Bachelor of Arts specialising in Screen Production.

Stream:

A subject focus within a qualification or programme of study. Streams have specific curriculum requirements.

Structure of Course Codes

The code structure is uniform and it gives important information about the course. Each code has eight characters, as follows: AAA1nnnS, where

AAA	is a 3 alpha-character group identifying the department
1	is a number representing the year of study in which the course is usually taken nnn	is a 3 character number that identifies the course uniquely
S	is a single alpha-character suffix, giving information about the duration and semester placement of the course

Suffixes which are most frequently used in the Faculty are:

F	First-semester course
S	Second-semester course
W	Whole-year course
H	Half-course taught throughout the year
Z	Non-standard period

Summer/Winter Term courses:

P	November - December
U	November - January
L	June -July

The following examples show how the codes work:

ELL1013F English Literary Studies

ELL designates an English course

1 designates a first-year course

013 serves to distinguish this course from other first-year English courses

F designates a first-semester course

HST2047S	Gender and History
HST	designates a History course
2	designates a second-year course
047	serves to distinguish this course from other second-year History courses
S	designates a second-semester course

List of Departmental Letter Codes

In numerous instances courses are referred to through use of their codes. To assist students a list of departmental letter codes is given below. This is not a comprehensive list, but includes those teaching courses most frequently taken by students in this Faculty. In cases where a code is not understood, the department should be identified from the list, and then the departmental entry in this Handbook, or the Department itself, should be consulted.

Right of admission

- F2 The right of admission to lectures, classes and seminars is restricted to students in good standing who are specifically registered for the respective courses concerned. Guests may be admitted at the invitation of the teachers in charge.

Use of premises

- F3 The Faculty and Departmental premises shall not, without permission from the Dean or Head of the relevant Department, be used for the sale or distribution of books, papers, or other articles, or for the display of notices or announcements, or for the making of collections for charitable or other purposes, or as an address for personal mail.

Duly performed certificates (DP)

- F4 Candidates may not sit the examination in a course if they have been refused a duly performed certificate for the course (see General Rules for Students GB9.1, 9.2 and 9.3). Conditions for the award of a duly performed certificate are set out in the course description for the course concerned in this handbook.

Repeating courses

- F5.1 Except with the permission of the Senate, students registered in the Faculty of Humanities who fail a University course twice will not be allowed to register for the same course for a third time.
- F5.2 Should a required course be failed twice (including DPR for the course INC [incomplete] or AB [absent from the final examination or supplementary examination]), the student will have to transfer to a programme of study in which the same course is not required, in order to complete the qualification.
- F5.3 Students are not permitted to repeat a course that has been passed.

Prerequisites for courses

- F6 Except with the permission of the Senate, no student shall be admitted to a stipulated course in a subject if they have not satisfied the prerequisites for that course.

Completion of practical work

- F7 Candidates shall not be credited with having completed any course, or portion of a course, unless they have satisfactorily performed such practical work as may be prescribed.

Programme and qualification choice

- F8 Students may change their qualification and/ or programme of study with the permission of the Programme Convener and Dean. Not all courses passed may be credited towards a new qualification.

Transferring students

- F9.1 Students who have not been excluded from another faculty may transfer to the Faculty of Humanities for the purpose of taking the BA, BA(FA), BMus, BSocSc or BSW degree, provided that such students satisfy the requirements for admission as a candidate for that degree. Students excluded from another faculty will not be accepted by the Faculty of Humanities without the permission of the Faculty's Readmission Appeal Committee.
- F9.2 Students transferring to the Faculty of Humanities from another university may be granted credit or exemption or both for up to a maximum of eight semester courses (or equivalent) towards the BA, BSocSc or BSW degree. Such transferring students will be required to complete the remaining required full courses (or equivalent in half-courses) prescribed for the degree, including, where applicable, all 3000-level courses required for the major, at this University over a period of not less than two years.
- 9.2.1 In the case of students wishing to transfer into the BA(FA) degree, no more than four full courses (or equivalent in half courses) in studio/work subjects, two full courses (or equivalent in half courses) in Discourse of Art (or equivalent) and a further one full course (or equivalent in half courses) in other Humanities subjects, may be offered for credit or exemption, on recommendation of the Director of the Michaelis School of Fine Art.
- 9.2.2 In the case of students transferring into the BMus degree or Music diplomas, no more than one half of the credits required for the degree or diploma, and in addition no more than one half of the core courses required by the programme stream, may be offered for credit or exemption.

Credits towards second UCT degree

- F10 Students who have completed any course or courses for which credit may be given towards one or more degrees in the University and have obtained one of these degrees may be granted credit(s) and/or exemption(s) in respect of such course(s) towards another degree in the University; provided that no such students shall be admitted to such other degree unless they have, in respect of that degree:
- for a three-year degree: registered for at least two years and while so registered, completed at least one half of the courses prescribed for the degree including the final course(s) in their major subject(s);
 - provided further that the Senate may, in a case considered by it to be exceptional, and on the recommendation of the Board of the Faculty, admit to the degree a student who has only partially complied with the requirements of clause (a).

Concurrent registration

- F11.1 At another university:
Except with the permission of the Senate, students may not register for any course taken at another university in the same year during which such students are registered at the University of Cape Town.
- F11.2 For two succeeding courses:
Except with the permission of the Senate, concurrent registration for two succeeding courses will not be permitted.

For further information on concurrent registration, see the Guideline to the taking of courses at other institutions as part of a UCT degree at the end of this section.

Recognition of credits for courses taken at other institutions

- F12 Students who are not transferring students will not be allowed to bring credits from elsewhere if they have not attempted the full curriculum at UCT.

Guidelines to the taking of courses at other institutions as part of a UCT degree
(also see rules F10 and F11 above)

Under limited circumstances, a concession may be granted to complete a course at another institution (concurrent registration). These circumstances include:

- (a) a timetable clash that has occurred as a result of a change made after the student has embarked on study/curriculum;
- (b) a course which is not part of the student's major that has been failed twice before and which cannot be replaced by another elective.

In all cases, students must obtain permission in advance. In the case of (a) above, consideration will only be given if the course is not offered in Summer Term or Winter Term, or can be taken in another year of full-time study.

UCT students who want to transfer external credits from a semester abroad exchange may only apply to do so for 1000- and 2000-level courses. 3000-level courses required for the major must be completed at UCT. Students must obtain permission in advance for the credit transfer.

Note: Students in their final-year may still experience an external study opportunity, but would need to apply for a leave of absence (reason: external study opportunity) for the period and on their return would need to complete the required exit level courses at UCT.

Recognition of credits for courses taken at other institutions

- F12.1 UCT students who want to transfer external credits from a semester abroad exchange may only apply to do so for 1000- and 2000-level courses. 3000-level courses required for the major must be completed at UCT. Students must obtain permission in advance for the credit transfer.

Requirements for distinction*Distinction in a subject/programme specialisation*

- F13 Courses considered for purposes of distinction must have been taken at UCT or at an exchange partner institution. Courses passed for credit from other tertiary institutions are not considered for purposes of distinction.

- F13.1 Bachelor of Arts specialising in Screen Production
Bachelor of Social Science in Philosophy, Politics and Economics
Bachelor of Social Work

With the exception of the subjects listed below, and where the rules for a specialisation in a programme or a programme stream require completion, under normal circumstances, of two 2000-level and two 3000-level courses in a sequence of courses from one subject or from various subjects, the above degrees will be awarded with a distinction in a programme specialisation if a candidate has attained an average of 75% in at least four senior semester courses including at least two 3000-level courses required for a major, with no course receiving a mark of less than 70% and the average of the marks awarded for the 3000-level courses being at least 75%, with each 3000-level course receiving a mark of at least 70%. Where the rules for a specialisation in a programme or a programme stream require completion of more than four senior semester courses (or the equivalent) in a particular programme specialisation, the Programme Convener shall determine which courses up to a maximum of four senior semester courses shall be considered for distinction in that programme specialisation, as long as at least two of those courses are at 3000-level.

Distinction in the qualification as a whole

- F14 Courses considered for purposes of distinction must have been taken at UCT or at an exchange partner institution. Courses passed for credit from other tertiary institutions are not considered for purposes of distinction.
Qualification-specific rules for the award of a distinction are covered under the corresponding section for each qualification.

Awards

Class awards

- F15.1 A list of class awardees is published every year, once approved by the Faculty Examinations Committee.
- F15.2 Only students registered for an undergraduate Bachelor's degree are eligible for a class award. Any students taking a course for the second time are ineligible for any award or prize in that course. Occasional students are ineligible for class awards.
- F15.3 Awards may be conferred only on those students who have shown special ability.
- F15.4 Only one award will be conferred in a course, irrespective of the number of students in the class, or how many sessions of the course exist (first-semester, second-semester or summer/winter term).
- F15.5 Class awards may be given to the best academic performing student in any single course, combination of, or selection of courses approved by the Senate in any subject recognised in the Faculty of Humanities.

Further rules for the conferral of class awards in specific qualifications are covered under the corresponding qualification rules.

Dean's merit list

- F16 The Dean's merit list is published annually. It contains the names of students whose academic performance over the year is meritorious (70% average on full course load) and hence worthy of recognition. Students who qualify for inclusion in the list will receive a letter of commendation from the Dean. "Full course load" is interpreted to mean:
- (a) in the case of qualifications with structured curricula, the minimum course load prescribed for a particular year of study;
 - (b) in the case of the regular programmes of study leading to the award of the BA and BSocSc, the first-year of registration for the degree must include the top 8 semester courses, the second-year of registration must include the top 6 semester courses (including the courses for the majors and at least 5 senior semester courses), and the third-year of registration must include the remaining courses necessary for the degree.
 - (c) in the case of the extended programme in the general degree, the first-year of registration for the degree must include the top 6 semester courses, the second-year of registration must include the top 6 semester courses (including the courses for at least one major and at least 2 senior courses), the third-year of registration must include the top 6 semester courses (including the courses for at least one major and at least 4 senior courses),

- and the fourth-year of registration must include the remaining courses necessary for the degree.
- (d) in the case of students in the general degree who are forced to extend their degree over a four-year pattern to accommodate either the Mathematics/Statistics preparation for the Psychology or Economics majors or an unavoidable timetable clash, the first-year of registration for the degree must include the top 6 semester courses, the second-year of registration must include the top 6 semester courses (including the courses for the majors and at least 4 senior courses), the third-year of registration must include the top 4 senior semester courses, and the fourth-year of registration must include the remaining courses necessary for the degree.
 - (e) in the case of students in the general degree who choose to extend their degree over a four-year pattern to accommodate an additional major or a Science major with heavy co-requisite demands, the first-year of registration for the degree must include the top 8 semester courses, the second-year of registration must include 6 semester courses (including the courses for the majors and at least 5 senior courses), the third-year of registration must include the top 6 senior semester courses, and the fourth-year of registration must include the remaining courses necessary for the degree.
 - (f) in the case of students who move into a Humanities programme after a year or more in another programme or faculty, the full load for their programme regardless of whether or not they transfer credits from their previous programme. Students transferring less than the full first-year course load from another programme may be deemed to be in their first-year of study in their new programme for the purposes of DML load calculation.
 - (g) in any programme of study, a full load minimum passed over the first or second-semesters. While available Winter or Summer Term course marks may be added to the calculation if they increase the overall average, they may only do so if they represent credits over and above the prescribed minimum (as defined above).

F16.1 Enriched curriculum waivers:

In accordance with UCT's Student Fees Handbook rule 2.6, students on the Dean's merit list in their preceding year of study may apply for the waiver of the course fee on course(s) taken in addition to the full standard curriculum - that is, students will graduate with more than the maximum number of courses required by the degree programme. Humanities students access this waiver under the following restrictions:

- (a) a maximum of one course will be rebated per year per student
- (b) if multiple courses could be considered as additional to the full curriculum, the additional course will be taken to be that with the least expensive course fee
- (c) waivers will not be applied to final-year core, major or specialisation courses even when such courses are in excess of the minimum programme requirement for such
- (d) Dean's merit list status does not guarantee the award of a fee waiver. If limited University funds are available for rebates, waivers will be allocated in order of merit by average for the DML year.

Minimum requirements for readmission and promotion

NOTE: What this means is that where students have not met the requirements for their qualification or programme, the Faculty Examinations Committee will consider whether or not to re-admit them in the following year. The Faculty Examinations Committee may decide not to re-admit such a student, in which case the student will need to appeal via the Faculty Readmission Appeal Committee; or the Faculty Examination Committee may decide to re-admit the student on certain conditions. Each case is unique and considered individually, and the student's full academic record is considered in reaching the decision.

Specific requirements for re-admission are covered under the corresponding qualification rules.

Maximum registration period

F17.1 Except with the permission of the Senate, students who have not completed the requirements for the qualification shall not be permitted to register at the University for more than the following periods:

BA and BSocSc students following the regular programme of study: four years

This includes the BA specialisations.

BA and BSocSc students following the extended programme of study: five years

BSocSc(PPE) students: four years

BSW students: five years

BA(FA) students following the regular programme of study: five years

BA(FA) students following the extended programme of study: five years

BA(T&P) students: five years

BMus students following the regular programme of study: five years

BMus students following the extended programme of study: five years

DMP students following the regular programme of study: four years

DMP students following the extended programme of study: four years

Dip(T&P) students: four years

F17.2 Students who are refused permission to re-register in the Faculty may appeal to the Faculty Readmission Appeal committee in accordance with procedures laid down by that committee. The decision of the Readmission Appeal Committee shall be final.

F17.3 The registration of students transferring from another faculty or another post-secondary education institution, or who are permitted to register by Senate and who have not met the minimum requirements of Rule 17.1 above, shall be subject to such special conditions as the Senate may prescribe. Except by permission of the Senate, students who fail to satisfy these conditions shall not be permitted to renew registration in the Faculty.

Supplementary examinations and re-examination for all qualifications offered by the Faculty (see also Rule GB11 in Handbook 3)

F18.1 The Faculty will not normally award supplementary examinations.

F18.2 The Head of the Department may require, on academic grounds, the student to undertake further tests or examinations during the period between the completion of the internal marking process and the finalisation of the results by the external examiner. These further tests or examinations may include the following:

(a) an oral examination;

- (b) a further written examination covering specific sections only of the work of the course;
- (c) a further written assignment.

Absence from examination

F19 If students do not take a written or practical examination for a course for which they are registered in the scheduled and published time, then they will be recorded as having been absent (AB) from the examination.

Curriculum leading to the Advanced Diploma in School Leadership and Management [HU053]

Convener:

Dr R Terhoven

The Advanced Diploma in School Leadership and Management, AdvDip(SLM), is a national qualification developed by the Department of Basic Education (DBE). This is an NQF level 7 qualification for School Management Team (SMT) members offered over a 24-month part-time period. The programme is required to be completed outside of school teaching time, as the students (SMT members) are in full-time employment, hence certain Saturdays (some used for school extra-curricular activities) and school holidays are utilised for classes, followed by Communities of Practice (CoPs) as support. This qualification facilitates the implementation of an entry level qualification for school principals. According to the implementation guidelines 'the qualification is to be offered through a national programme, delivered by accredited HEIs under the auspices of the DBE and in conjunction with provincial education departments' (DBE, 2018). The first intake for the programme is either in the first or second-semester, with candidates reregistering each subsequent year until programme completion.

Bachelor of Arts (BA) [HB003]

Bachelor of Social Science (BSocSc) [HB001]

These rules must be read in conjunction with the General Rules for degrees in Book 3 of this series.

NOTE: For the purposes of relating the following rules to curricula, it is important to note that a full course carries the same credit as two semester courses or two half courses. In consequence, rules expressed in terms of full courses may be re-expressed in terms of semester or half courses, and vice versa. For the purposes of relevant rules, a whole-year full course is regarded as being equivalent to a semester course per semester and a whole-year half course as equivalent to half a semester course per semester.

Requirements for distinction

FB1 The degree may be awarded with distinction (see Faculty Rules F13 and F14).

Distinction in a subject/ programme specialisation

BSW Progression criteria

Applicants will be admitted into the BSW in their first year, however, will not be granted automatic entry into the second year. Students who are not selected for continuation in the programme will be advised to transfer into the general BSocSc or BA degrees. The BSW is a professional programme and there is a strong emphasis on students' ability to meet the ethical requirements of the South African Council for Social Service Professionals. Any student who is involved in disciplinary matters will thus not be eligible to continue with the BSW. Entry is competitive and prospective applicants will be judged on their performance on SWK 1005S.

The assessment will include the following:

- The student's performance in their theory courses in the first year. Performance concerns such as a DPR for any course may be a disadvantage. These performance issues will be explored in the final interview.
- The students' performance in the practical examination. In order to be considered to continue with the BSW students must score above 65% for the practical examination.
- The student's performance and participation in the workshops. An overall practice mark of 65% is required.
- Students who meet the above criteria will need to demonstrate that they can meet the ethical requirements of the BSW. Meeting the marks criteria is not a guaranteed entry to the second year of the BSW.
- An interview will be conducted by a panel of staff members. This interview will be the final determinant of whether the student will be allowed to continue with the BSW.

Awards

- FS3 Class medals may be awarded to the best student in each stream (African Music, Jazz, Opera and Classical) in each year of study for degrees and diplomas in Music.
See also rule F15.

Public engagements

- FS4 Candidates for a degree or diploma in the SA College of Music shall consult their instrumental or vocal studies teacher and obtain the permission of the Director before undertaking any public engagement or audition, or entering any competition or outside examination, while registered as candidates. Non-compliance with this rule may result in the refusal of a DP certificate for a student's first practical study. Notwithstanding the above, SA College of Music productions shall take precedence over all other events.

Duly performed certificates

- FS5 Candidates may not sit the examination in a course if they have been refused a duly performed certificate for the course (see General Rules for Students GB9.1, GB9.2 and GB9.3). Conditions for the award of a duly performed certificate are set out in the course description for the course concerned in this Handbook. 80% attendance is required for all instrumental and vocal studies. Students who at the end of the first-semester have already failed to attend 20% of the year's classes will not be allowed to continue in the second-semester and will be deregistered.

Public performances

- FS6 Except by permission of Senate, candidates will not be permitted to renew their registration in the Faculty unless:
- as Music or Opera candidates, they take part, at the Director's instruction, in performers classes, orchestras, bands, choirs, or operatic productions of the College; and
 - they perform all back-stage work assigned by the Director.
- NOTE: No candidates are guaranteed, nor may they demand or refuse, a part in any production of the Faculty.*

Physical examination

- FS7.1 Candidates may be required by the Director to provide evidence that they are medically and physically fit, as a condition of registration or renewal of registration in the Faculty, and may be refused permission by Senate to register or renew registration if a medical doctor advises unfavourably.
- FS7.2 Candidates shall inform the Director of any aspect of their health that may be an impediment to full participation in the courses for which they are registered.

Piano requirements for non-keyboard students

- FS8.1 For the Diploma in Music Performance in Jazz Studies and BMus in Jazz Studies curricula: on admission to the course, jazz instrumentalists who are not taking piano as a first or second instrument are required to satisfy the course convener that they have reached a standard equivalent to a pass in Jazz Piano D1 [MUZ1255H]. Students who have not attained this standard must complete Jazz Piano D1. Jazz singers are required to complete two years of piano: either MUZ1281H Secondary Piano I and MUZ1255H Jazz Piano D1 or MUZ1255H Jazz Piano D1 and MUZ2255H Jazz Piano D2.

- FS8.2 For the Diploma in Music Performance (Classical Stream) and the Bachelor of Music (all Classical Streams): on admission to the course students who are not taking piano as a first instrument are required to satisfy the course convener that they have reached a standard equivalent to a pass in Secondary Piano II (MUZ2281H). Students who have not attained this standard must complete Secondary Piano I and II or Secondary Piano II.

Concurrent registration for courses from consecutive years of study

- FS9 Students shall not be permitted to register concurrently for courses properly belonging to consecutive years of study in the curriculum of any degree or diploma without the permission of the course convener.

Permission to reregister for the Opera Stream

- FS10 Candidates enrolling for the Opera Stream of the Bachelor of Music or the Diploma in Music Performance do so on the understanding that if the Senate, on the advice of the Director of the Opera School after consultation with relevant staff members, deems at any time that a student is unfit for a career as an opera singer (owing, for example, to personality, temperament or vocal ability), the Senate may refuse the student permission to reregister.

Entry requirements for students registered for other qualifications, and SSA students

- FS11 Students registered for qualifications other than the Bachelor of Music, Advanced Diploma in Opera, Advanced Diploma in Music or Diploma in Music Performance, as well as SSA (Semester Study Abroad) students, who wish to take courses established in the South African College of Music must fulfil the following entrance requirements:
- (i) One of the following:
 - (a) 60% (HG) or 70% (SG) in Music (SC), or Music at level 5 in the NSC, or equivalent examination;
 - (b) a pass in the Grade V Theory of Music examination and Grade VII practical examination of the University of South Africa or in examinations recognised by Senate as equivalent;
 - (c) satisfy the Admission Board of the SA College of Music by practical audition and theory examination that they can register for the degree with a reasonable expectation of successfully completing the prescribed curriculum in the period required in terms of Faculty rules.
 - (ii) Students must pass a Theory of Music Entrance Test.
 - (iii) For entrance to practical courses (Instrument B1 or B2 or B3, and Jazz Improvisation I), an audition will be required.

Notes on individual music courses

1. Courses are listed numerically. For a numerical list of instrumental and vocal studies practical course codes please see the table at the end of this book
2. Candidates may take courses in addition to those prescribed for the degree or diploma for which they are registered, subject to the approval of the Director and on payment of the prescribed additional fee.

3. Lecture times are according to the timetable of the South African College of Music.

Permission to take a sole remaining course elsewhere

FS12 In cases where students have one remaining non-major course to complete the degree requirements and such course has been attempted and failed previously, permission may be given to complete such a course elsewhere to prevent hardship that may arise from having to return especially to complete the sole remaining course. Permission to take a sole remaining elsewhere must be obtained in advance.

Candidates are advised that this programme demands attendance at rehearsals and other meetings outside of normal University teaching hours and should make sure that other commitments do not clash with the requirements of this programme.

Candidates are required to provide the following equipment and services:

- Textbooks and rehearsal notebooks;
- Rehearsal wear: normally tracksuits, tights and leotards and rehearsal skirts for women;

The African Gender Institute (AGI) is a feminist research institute located within the Department of African Feminist Studies in the Faculty of Humanities at the University of Cape Town (UCT). We are committed to connecting with African feminist thinkers and activists across disciplinary, institutional and geographic borders. We have aimed to make the boundaries between research, pedagogy and activism porous, so that these arenas can become epistemologically coherent. Two core principles have informed AGI's work: first, the simple understanding of knowledge production as organic and people-centred; second, a respect for the generative and transformative power of collective processes. AGI has lead research projects on: gender justice, sexuality and human rights; peace and conflict studies; religion and sexuality; and capacity building in relation to gender and women's studies knowledges.

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Dr N Titi

Course entry requirements: 2nd year status

Course outline:

This course explores debates around gender and sexualities as a way both of deepening knowledge about the politics of gender continentally, and of exploring the complexity of different African contexts' engagement with broad discussions on sexual rights. The course is divided into two sections which broadly focus on South Africa, Kenya and Uganda. The first section addresses concepts on gender and sexualities through an examination of how sexualities were remade as a result of colonial conquest as well as how debates over gender and sexualities shifted post-'independence'. The second section looks at contemporary debates in gender politics and sexualities. These include debates of the (de)criminalisation of sex work, culture and sexuality, reproductive health rights and sexual rights, and gender and the media.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 3rd period.

DP requirements: Students are expected to attend all classes, and to submit all required assignments by deadlines identified in the course curriculum.

Assessment: Continuous assessment (essays, projects, tests, etc.) counts 100%.

AFS2102S GENDER & THE POLITICS OF DEVELOPMENT

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: TBA

Course entry requirements: 2nd year status

The course will offer an introduction to debates around the gendered impact of different economic and political development trajectories, and policies, such as industrialisation, agricultural transformations, democratisation, and contemporary structural adjustment programmes. Case studies drawn from different regions and contexts will be used to illustrate the theoretical debates, including those distinguishing “women in development” approaches from “gender and development” approaches.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 3rd period.

DP requirements: Completion of all semester coursework by deadlines as specified on the course curriculum.

Assessment: Continuous assessment (essays, projects, tests, etc.) counts 100%.

AFS3100F THEORIES, POLITICS AND ACTION

30 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: Dr M Osman

Course outline:

In this course we will examine how women's movements have emerged in the context of struggles against other forms of social injustice and have informed theories about gendered oppression. Focusing on women's and feminist movements mainly in the South and East, the course examines how feminist theories have not only been shaped by the specificities of the local contexts and struggles; but also how they have been shaped by the global flow of information about women's and queer movements elsewhere. In addition, we examine how the questions that feminists and women activists have raised have destabilised the taken-for-granted assumptions about masculinities. We will also take a brief look at the construction and multiple meanings of sexuality and masculinities, especially in African contexts. The course is designed to acquaint students with literature about women's and feminist movements in the non-western world. It encourages students to think critically about the relationship between theories and practice, as well as about the applicability of feminist theoretical concepts across diverse contexts. Coursework is also designed to develop students' writing and seminar presentation skills.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 4th period.

DP requirements: Completion of all written coursework by deadlines as specified on course curriculum.

Assessment: Continuous assessment (essays, projects, tests, etc.) counts 100%.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 4th period.

DP requirements: Completion of all semester coursework and research assignments by deadlines as specified within the course curriculum.

Assessment: Continuous assessment (essays, projects, tests, etc.) counts 100%.

The development by human beings of the power to communicate with one another by means of language, and their subsequent and continuing co-operative use of that power in transforming the world they live in, are among the most significant determinants of the human condition. Scholars have been inquiring into the origins, history, mechanism, structure and social roles of language and languages since the very beginnings of the intellectual tradition. Courses in this section not only offer an introduction to the range of such inquiries and an opportunity to participate in them, but above all foster the idea that an attempt to grasp the nature of language is an indispensable part of any serious attempt to understand what it is to be human.

First-Year Courses

AGE1002S THE HUMAN PLANET: PREHISTORY TO PRESENT

18 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Dr V J Hare

Course entry requirements: None

Course outline:

This aim of this course is to introduce the study of archaeology, and the study of human origins. Archaeology is defined as the study of the human past through material culture. Over the second semester, this course presents an overview of prehistory leading up to the modern day, as well as the broader climatic, geographic, ecological, social, and cultural contexts which made modern humans. In particular, it looks at the past through the lens of what people leave behind - the archaeological record.

What you can expect to take away from this course:

- A broad understanding of the timescales of human prehistory, and our interactions with the Earth System, from the Early Pleistocene through to the Historical period, and the emergence of present day societies (the "Anthropocene").
- An understanding of current concepts in archaeological thought, and the complexities of relationships between archaeologists, science, and society today.
- Familiarity with the foundational skills and terminology necessary for present-day archaeological research and investigation.

This broad course is suitable for all undergraduate students in the sciences and humanities; but particularly for those wishing to major in Archaeology, Environmental & Geographical Science, or cognate subjects.

Lecture times: Monday - Thursday, 5th period

DP requirements: Attendance at lectures and tutorials and completion of assignments.

Assessment: Assignments and class tests count 50% towards the final mark and one 3-hour examination written in November counts 50%. A sub-minimum of 40% is required for the examination.

AGE1005L TOWARDS A DECOLONISED SCIENCE IN SOUTH AFRICA

(offered during winter term)

18 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Professor R Ackermann

Course outline:

This course addresses some key topics relevant to the decolonization of science in South Africa. Course objectives are as follows: (1) to contrast the science behind human diversity (e.g. skin colour variation, sex) with socially-constructed categories (e.g. race, gender binary); (2) to demonstrate how the history of racism and gender bias has limited the focus of scientific enquiry; (3) to highlight the importance of diversity and diverse voices in the production of scientific knowledge, (4) to show how African voices in particular have shaped and are continuing to shape the trajectory of science. The approach is a blended learning environment which combines online lectures, tutorials, tasks, and assessments. Guests both within UCT and from further afield will be brought in to supplement material through lectures, interviews and/or short case studies.

Assessment: Class participation (workshops/tutorials and online discussions) 20%, online tests 20%, final exam 30%, final project 30%. NOTE: The allocation of 30% to the final exam breaks with the traditional 50% threshold. Given the format and intense interactive nature of the courses, the decision has been made that a large component of student assessment should be a course project which allows them to engage with and reflect on their changing understanding of decolonisation and race in the course. This project will be equal weight to the exam, and will be externally examined.

Second-Year Courses

AGE2011S HUMAN EVOLUTION

24 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Professor R Ackermann

Course entry requirements: Any first-year Science course, or any first-year Humanities course from a related discipline such as Social Anthropology, Historical Studies, Sociology, etc or by permission of the Head of Department.

Course outline:

In AGE2011S we examine the record of primate and human evolution, showing how fossil skeletons and artefacts are interpreted in terms of human behaviour and evolutionary processes. We also consider genetic and other comparative evidence that are increasingly providing insight into the origin of our lineage. We answer questions such as: Why did our ancestors evolve in Africa? How did we evolve such large and complex brains? What advantage does bipedalism provide? When do humans begin to make tools? Why is human skin colour so variable? What makes humans unique? The syllabus for AGE2011S includes practical sessions for the study of primate and human, fossil and recent skeletal material and the artefacts associated with our ancestors.

Lecture times: Monday - Thursday, 3rd period, Practicals: One 2-hour practical per week, at times to be arranged

DP requirements: Attendance at lectures and practicals and completion of assignments.

Assessment: Assignments and tests count 50%; one 3-hour examination in October/November counts 50%. A sub-minimum of 40% is required for the examination.

AGE2012F THE FIRST PEOPLE

24 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Dr Y Sahle

Course entry requirements: Any first-year Science course; or any one of AXL1400F (was SAN1015F,) or AGE1002S or equivalent first-year semesters; or AGE2011S; or any first-year Humanities course from cognate disciplines such as Anthropology, Historical Studies, Sociology; or by permission of the Head of Department.

Course outline:

All humans living today have a common African origin. The first humans were hunter-gatherers, as were their descendants. Indeed, our ancestors were hunter-gatherers for at least 99% of our evolutionary history, which means that our physical, psychological and social selves have been shaped by this way of life. We learn about the origin and evolution of our hunter-gatherer ancestors from genetic, fossil, archaeological and ethnographic evidence. Studies of Khoesan peoples of southern Africa have contributed significantly to our understanding of such societies. In this course we focus on the hunter-gatherer way of life over the past few hundreds of thousands of years. Specific topics covered include modern human origins, the Middle and Later Stone Age, ethnographic studies of Khoesan, the origins of pastoralism, coastal vs. arid environment adaptations, rock art and symbolic interpretation, genetics and biology, revisionism, and contemporary socio-politics and identity. In the weekly practical sessions, students will conduct hands-on, problem-solving exercises with archaeological materials.

Lecture times: Monday - Thursday, 3rd period, Practicals: One 2-hour practical per week, at times to be arranged

DP requirements: Attendance at lectures and practicals, completion of assignments and participation in a one-day museum trip.

Assessment: Assignments and practical tests count 50% towards the final mark and one 3-hour examination written in June counts 50%. A sub-minimum of 40% is required for the examination.

evolution of societies? Did Africa have any civilisations? Who did Africa interact with? We discuss the archaeological record of artefacts, settlement systems, food waste, environmental contexts and human skeletons. We deploy historical, material science, molecular science, anthropological and palaeoclimatic techniques to explore this rich and diverse heritage of the last two thousand years.

Course entry requirements: AGE2011S or AGE2012F, or by permission of the Head of Department.

Course outline:

The period of the last-500 years greatly impacted the social lives and economies of indigenous communities in southern Africa. Preceding this period, the importance of the African continent and its products had led to increased movements and travel from both the East and the West, and from the 16th century, these movements and trade routes led to the trade in African people and increased interest in the exploitation of resources and labour on the continent. This period of interaction, domination and colonisation led to the development of new orders of power, control and trade, greatly impacting indigenous societies who were subjected to slavery, genocide and eventually, apartheid. In this course, we explore the impact of these interactions and the subsequent influence and impact of the creation of a European diaspora in southern Africa. We explore the concept of frontier as a central theme that impacts racial, gender and social relations. While being a period of intense contestation and competition for resources, this is also a period of indigenous agency and resistance. In order to examine these relations, this course explores the archaeological evidence, written sources and oral history to understand the multiple lived experiences and perspectives emblematic of the period.

Lecture times: Tuesday - Thursday, 5th period, Tutorials and Practicals: Monday and Friday respectively, 5th period.

DP requirements: Attendance at lectures and practicals, completion of assignments.

Assessment: Assignments and class tests count 50% towards the final mark and one 3-hour exam written in November counts 50%. A sub-minimum of 40% is required for the examination.

The purpose of the course is to provide students with a general introduction to the South African legal system, with its main focus the law of contract. The course starts with an overview of the South African court structure and contemporary sources and branches of South African law, and also introduces students to the Constitution and the impact that it continues to have on legal development. The course then provides students with a general but comprehensive introduction to the general principles of contract, focusing on formation of contracts, the content of contracts, breach of contract and remedies for breach. The course also aims to provide students with an introduction to certain specific contracts, most notably contracts of sale, lease and agency. The general principles of contract are supplemented by a consideration of legislation, in particular the provisions of the Consumer Protection Act, where relevant.

Lecture times: The course is an intensive one, with 5 contact periods per week for the full semester.

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE RESEARCH UNIT AND CENTRE FOR ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE RESEARCH (Co-Director: Professor Tommie Meyer, Co-Director: Associate Professor Deshen Moodley). The Artificial Intelligence Research Unit (AIRU) is an accredited research unit in the Department of Computer Science. Through its two research focus areas, Knowledge Representation and Reasoning, and Adaptive and Cognitive Systems, AIRU aims to harness blue sky research to explore innovative applications of Artificial Intelligence that can serve to advance social and economic development in South Africa and Africa. AIRU also hosts the Centre for Artificial Intelligence Research (CAIR). CAIR is a national distributed research centre with research groupings across eight South African universities. CAIR conducts research in both the foundational and applied aspects of Artificial Intelligence.

COLLABORATIVE VISUAL COMPUTING (Co-ordinator: Professor James Gain). Topics of research include: Collaborative Virtual Environments; Usability and Human-Computer Interaction; Computer Graphics; Computer vision and machine learning for 2D/3D scene analysis; and Virtual Reality. Special interests within the CVC lab include Virtual Environments, Modelling and Procedural Graphics.

DIGITAL LIBRARIES (Co-ordinator: Professor Hussein Suleman). Research areas covered within digital libraries include information retrieval; ontologies; natural language processing and generation; digital archives and repositories; interoperability and protocols and cultural heritage preservation.

EVOLUTIONARY MACHINE LEARNING (Co-ordinator: Associate Professor Geoff Nitschke). The main focus of the research group is to devise new methods using algorithmic techniques from a broad range of biologically inspired machine learning sub-fields such as evolutionary computation and artificial neural networks as well as statistical machine learning and apply such methods to adapt artificial brains on various experimental platforms, including: evolutionary-robotic, artificial life and agent-based systems.

HIGH PERFORMANCE COMPUTING (Co-ordinator: Professor Michelle Kuttel). This laboratory investigates aspects of high-performance computing, including: parallel algorithms; multi-core and GPU programming; computational science; and scientific visualisation.

Domains of research include design for mothers, design for community-health workers, local content creation for communities, media-based peer health education, and co-design across borders, with a focus on the role of HCI in making effective, usable and sustainable systems to address problems of inequality and social justice.

KNOWLEDGE ENGINEERING (Co-ordinator: Dr Zola Mahlaza). The aim of the team's activities is to contribute computing theory, methods, and techniques to the knowledge society. The scope of the KEEN team is knowledge engineering in its broad sense. This includes ontology engineering, the Semantic Web, intelligent (logic-based, ontology-driven) conceptual modelling, and natural language generation.

NATURAL LANGUAGE PROCESSING (Co-ordinator: Dr Jan Buys). This research group investigates aspects of natural language processing through the development of data-driven machine learning methods. Research topics include: methods for automatic text generation, language modelling and machine translation; supervised and unsupervised models for discovering linguistic structure in text; and developing datasets and NLP models for low-resource languages, with a particular focus on African and South African languages.

NETWORK AND INFORMATION SECURITY (Co-ordinator: Professor Andrew Hutchison). This group aims to design and implement network security protocols to address problems of security in web services, cloud computing environments and enterprise environments; research includes goal-oriented protocol design and identity management.

NETWORKING FOR DEVELOPMENT (Co-ordinators: Dr Josiah Chavula and Associate Professor David L Johnson). The Net4D laboratory focuses on the design and implementation of network infrastructure suitable for developing regions, as well as methods for sharing information in resource-scarce areas using alternative technologies. Main areas of research include Network Measurements, Wireless Community Networks, Localised Cloud Services, Software Defined Networking (SDN), and AI-driven network engineering. Our work involves a mix of creating solutions using network theory and systems, combined with trial networks that provide tangible measurable results.

Course outlines:

ECO1006F ECONOMICS FOR NON-SPECIALISTS

This course is designed for students intending to do only one semester of Economics. It is therefore aimed at providing a broad perspective on the subject, and concentrates more on an understanding of economic concepts and their application than it does on rigorous proofs and analysis.

18 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: L Njozela

Course entry requirements: Only students who are registered in the Faculty of Humanities may register for this course or with special permission from the course convener or head of department

Course outline:

This course comprises both micro- and macro-economics. Microeconomics focuses on individuals, be it individual consumers, firms or markets. The focus is on understanding the behaviour of these individual entities. Macroeconomics focuses on the economy as a whole. Rather than looking at the factors that determine an individual's consumption decisions (i.e. his/her income, the expected utility derived from different goods and the prices of those goods), the focus in macroeconomics is on total consumption of all consumers in the economy. Similarly, the focus is not on the output decision of any individual firm, or even an industry, but on the total output of all firms in the economy as a whole.

Lecture times: 16h00 - 18h00 Monday - Thursday

DP requirements: All class tests and assignments/essays/projects to be completed. Attend at least 70% tutorials. Satisfactory completion and timeous submission of at least 70% of tutorials. A weighted average mark of 30% for tests, tutorials, essays and assignments. Only students who have obtained DP certificates may write the final examination.

Assessment: Coursework 50%; Exam 50%. The course outline will detail the breakdown for submission weightings and variation for exemptions and absences. Note: The ECO1006F supplementary/deferred exam will be scheduled during the last week of the mid-year vacation. If students do not write this exam they will be marked as AB and will have to retake the course.

Course outline:

The course studies the role of institutions and power in influencing the outcomes of economic exchange. The course introduces the concept of institutions and how they influence the balance of power in economic interactions, and affect the fairness and efficiency of the allocations that result. The course then applies these concepts to a study of economic inequality, focusing on its trends, sources and policy options for more equal societies. The course then considers firms and the role that market structure plays in the setting of prices. Finally, the course studies market failures with application to environmental policy, and innovation and the networked economy. The course makes use of mathematical techniques to complement the graphical and discursive representation of the theory. All sections of the course incorporate real world applications.

Lecture times: Lecture/Workshop times: 09h00 – 10h00 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday. 12h00 – 13h00 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday. 13h00 – 14h00 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday.

ECO3020F ADVANCED MACRO AND MICRO ECONOMICS

18 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: T MpofuCourse entry requirements: MAM1010 (or equivalent) or MAM1031F or MAM1032S, ECO2003 and ECO2004Course outline:

This course has two, equally weighted components: the microeconomics component and the macroeconomics component. The first 6 weeks of the course will focus on Microeconomics. This section of the course will focus on the dynamic interplay of behaviour and institutions, and the outcomes produced through their interaction. The heart of the microeconomics we will study is really the question of how social interactions can be structured such that people are free to choose their own actions while avoiding outcomes that none would have chosen. We will draw attention to issues of distribution and market exclusion (issues of power and bargaining) as well as efficiency and will try to focus our thinking on applied issues. The macroeconomics component follows Stephen Williamson's Macroeconomics and employs his graphical and sectoral approach, which employs a micro foundations approach to macroeconomics. It starts by developing a basic closed economy model and expands it to a full open economy monetary model. Students will study the real business cycle model, the functioning of foreign trade and the role of money and banking.

Lecture times: 09h00 – 10h00 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday 10h00 – 11h00 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, FridayDP requirements: None

Assessment: Coursework: 50%; Exam: 50%. The course outline will detail the breakdown for submission weighting and variation for exemptions and absences. *Note: The ECO3020F supplementary/deferred exam will be scheduled during the last week of the mid-year vacation. ELL1013F LITERATURE: HOW AND WHY?

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Dr H Moosa

Course entry requirements: None

Course outline:

What is 'literature' and how does it work? How and why can we read and think critically? What does close attention to plays, novels and poems tell us as we grapple with the meanings of being human within a 21st century world? How can we trace the shift from 'English literature' to 'literature in English', from our specific and simultaneously myriad locations? This introduction to literary studies offers a range of critical tools and methods for reading and writing about texts in the most interesting and thought-provoking ways possible. The course also introduces students to literary and rhetorical terms, and to basic issues in literary studies. Different literary genres will be explored and analysed, including the novel, poetry and drama. Students will be introduced to different kinds of critical writing and will engage in honing their own critical skills. As an introductory course, we use content that engages the diversity of students' lifeworlds and is cognizant of our African location. We employ innovative teaching and delivery methods that allow more time for active engagement and the development of critical reading and writing skills in the Humanities.

Lecture times: 2nd period, Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

DP requirements: All written work to be handed in and at least 75% attendance at tutorials.

Assessment: Continuous assessment (coursework essays, projects, tasks etc.) counts 60%; end-of-semester examination counts 40%.

ELL1016S IMAGE, VOICE, WORD

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Professor B Boswell

Course entry requirements: None

Course outline:

As an introduction to cultural and literary studies, this course examines an array of modes of expression as we seek to understand how texts of various kinds accomplish their acts of meaning-making and persuade their readers. We will give attention to the impact of a text's form and context in shaping its message, as well as its content. In trying to understand the rhetorical effects of any given text, we will examine examples from across a variety of genres that use words, images and even sound to engage their audience or readers, within a variety of historical and political contexts. Objects of study will include texts that use sound as well as words (such as contemporary ballads, performance poetry and hip hop, or contemporary adaptations of Shakespeare's plays), visual images (such as posters in a protest action, photographs that document war and suffering, and historical maps that retraced the shape the world), and words collated and presented in particular ways on the page (such as the archived documents from the apartheid censors, the published journal of a fugitive slave, the extended prose of a stream-of-consciousness novel). By drawing on key theoretical insights into the politics of representation, we aim to develop the critical skills needed to become savvy readers of contemporary culture and politics. The course aims to build upon the skills in critical reading and writing taught in ELL1013F.

Lecture times: 2nd period, Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

DP requirements: All written work to be handed in and at least 75% attendance at tutorials.

Assessment: Continuous assessment (coursework essays, projects, tasks etc.) counts 60%; end-of-semester examination counts 40%.

ELL2000F CULTURES OF EMPIRE AND RESISTANCE

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: M Mohulatsi

Course entry requirements: At least second year status.

Course outline:

One of the distinct features of modern societies is how their connections across space and time have been mediated by cultures of empire. Imperialism was undoubtedly the engine of globalization. The imprint of empire, and resistance to imperial power, on cultural formations and modern sensibilities has been both profound and complex. Writing, reading, speaking, literature, language, liberty, freedom, nationalism, the nation-state, race, ethnicity, sex, gender, desire, indigeneity, to name but a few, are all categories of being that are impossible to fathom without a sense of the modern. This course reflects on the imprints and afterlives of empire as a cultural formation that is mediated through narrative and literary discourse. In the course of the semester, we will consider from our postcolonial present how narrative works to mediate these experiences and shape their meanings.

Lecture times: 3rd or 4th period.

DP requirements: All written work to be handed in and at least 75% attendance at tutorials.

Assessment: Continuous assessment (coursework essays, projects, tasks etc.) counts 60%; end-of-semester examination counts 40%.

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Professor S Young

Course entry requirements: At least second-year status.

Course outline:

How do we understand, imagine and reanimate the past in language? This course explores questions of memory, remembering and time as these are refracted and represented via a range of verbal, literary and cultural forms. We will consider the making of collective and public memory (e.g. the creation of national pasts; cultures of commemoration; oral history; testimonial forms; displacement, exile and global conflict; literatures of war) but also the question of individual and personal memory (e.g. language and identity; narrative and subjectivity; literature and psychoanalytic theory). As such, the course opens onto a wide range of topics, including but not limited to: the relation between the literary text and the history text; life-writing, autobiography and memoir; representations of childhood and ageing; engagements with the archive; the question of silenced, repressed or invisible histories; the historical, post-colonial and post-apartheid novel; discourses of trauma, truth and reconciliation; old age and forgetting; death and commemoration.

Lecture times: 3rd or 4th period.

DP requirements: All written work to be handed in and at least 75% attendance at seminars.

Course entry requirements: ELL2000F and ELL2001S, or at the discretion of the Head of Department.

Course outline:

The course examines key theoretical questions as they have been posed within literature on the representation of human and political being, especially as these help us interrogate the notion of modernity. The primary aim is to introduce senior undergraduates in ELL to the frameworks, vocabularies, and animating ideas of critical literary and cultural theorists, such as Cabral (on culture and the popular), Marxism (on questions of ideological formation and class), Said (on Orientalism), Fanon (on decolonialization), Spivak (on questions of the subaltern) and Butler (on language, gender and desire). The course will work with a range of texts and genres to facilitate new fluency with theoretical ideas, and to support critical reading and analysis through a clear theoretical lens.

Lecture times: 6th period, Monday and Tuesday.

Course entry requirements: ELL2000F, ELL2001S and ELL3000F, or at the discretion of the Head of Department.

Course outline:

This final course introduces students to a range of current ideas and questions in our discipline. It reflects on some of the most important debates and approaches within contemporary literary and cultural studies. We consider how cultural forms engage with the question of 'the contemporary' or 'the here and now', both within our current South African moment and across other historical periods and places. What new forms and canons are emerging for twenty-first-century readers and writers in an unstable world? The lecture series is complemented by small-group seminars that are closely tied to the wide-ranging research interests and creative work of staff and senior postgraduates, which includes: South, West and East African literatures, history and critical thought; creative writing and texts in performance; nineteenth- and twentieth-century poetry; black feminisms; queer studies; early modern studies and Shakespeare in the global South; postcolonial studies; decolonial theory; small magazines and African print cultures; sci-fi and speculative fiction; Francophone writing; life-writing and creative non-fiction; cultural memory and trauma studies; European literary and cultural theory; and the environmental humanities. The course assessment involves a mixture of research assignments and more public forms of critical writing and essays, with some opportunities for creative writing within seminars.

Lecture times: 6th period, Monday and Tuesday.

DP requirements: All written work to be handed in and at least 75% attendance at seminars.

Assessment: Continuous assessment (coursework essays, projects, tasks etc.) counts 75%; end-of-semester examination counts 25%.

Course outline:

Environmental and geographical science is about the relationships in place and across space and time. This course focuses on temporal dimensions. Interwoven social and biophysical patterns are explored with a view to informing just and sustainable transitions. Historical legacies, future forecasting, governance, climate variability and climate change and examined and understood in their contribution to current trajectories. This course engages temporal scales from geological epochs to consider climate variability and climate change, to socio-political historical legacies, and through to the variable lived experiences of the present. The course offers critiques of northern derived linear notions of time, and scalar assumptions that are held in global governance domains challenged by contexts in the global south. Students are introduced to interdisciplinary conversation through engaging geographical thought and praxis around questions relating to emergent and interrelated social and biophysical patterns, as informed by the past and experienced today.

FAM1001F MEDIA AND SOCIETY

This course may also be offered in Summer Term – please consult the Department.

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Associate Professor M Walton and Dr D Becker

Course entry requirements: None

Course outline:

This course is an Introduction to Film and Media Studies. The course examines the importance of the mass media in modern society and questions the roles that the media play in public life. We look conceptually at how meanings are constructed, using semiotic concepts to interrogate the relationship between audiences, media texts, technology and society. Debates around media effects and media ethics are also explored in the course. In addition to discussing theoretical media debates, this course also exposes students to a diverse range of writing styles for multiple media platforms such as newspapers, television and the Internet. The Centre for Curating the Archive, which includes the Lucy Lloyd Archive and Research Centre (LLAREC) and Katrine Harries Print Cabinet, has been established as a vehicle for the conservation and creative use, through exhibition and publication, of both object, image and paper collections. It builds on UCT's dual institutional strength in its numerous and valuable research collections on which much critical research is based, and in its established, often innovative expertise in the area of presenting those collections.

The linked research, often revealed in the public domain, uses these collections to facilitate and enrich public engagement with curatorial practice. It also aims to open up novel combinations of the historically separated domains of the creative arts, and the truth-claiming discourses of history and the social and natural sciences.

In coupling the avowedly creative activity of curation with the seemingly objective site of archive the CCA signals its intention to draw attention to past and present processes of the making of archives and collections of all kinds and the creation of meanings that flowed, and yet flow, therefrom.

The CCA is engaged in several partnerships, notably through the Honours specialisation in Curatorship with Iziko Museums of South Africa. The work of the CCA is represented on its website and at <https://cca.uct.ac.za>.

FIN1006F INTRODUCTION TO AFRICAN ART

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Professor N Makhubu

Course entry requirements: None.

Course outline:

This course is an introduction to the theory of African Art across different historical periods. It is also an introduction to the complexities and contradictions of 'modernity' and 'modernism(s)' in postcolonial Africa. With a focus on ideology-driven interdisciplinary artistic movements and 20th Century art schools in Senegal, Nigeria, Sudan, Congo, Egypt, Ethiopia and South Africa, we will examine various movements that were part of the modern consciousness which characterised the independence decades. The course includes critical discussion of coloniality and the rise of Pan-Africanism and Pan-Arabism during the independence decades. Postcolonial modernity in Africa is characterised by the appropriation of languages and visual aesthetics, globally. We debate the complexity of this appropriation and critique unilinear narrative from "tradition" to "modernity" (transfer of technology and political systems [civil society and African state]). Aimed at undermining colonial ideological foundations, African nationalism is characterized by literacy, cultural revival (traditionalist and neo-African), and a quest for African history. Through dialogue, debate and discussion this course provides a forum for critical thinking on art history and African art. As an introductory course, we use content that engages the diversity of students' lifeworlds and is cognizant of our African location. We employ innovative teaching and delivery methods that allow more time for active engagement and the development of critical reading and writing skills in the Humanities.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Thursday 5th period – Upper Campus.

DP requirements: At least 80% attendance of tutorials and satisfactory completion of 2 assignments per semester. Late essays penalised by 5% per day (including weekends).

FIN1009S APPROACHES TO ART HISTORY

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Dr A Soudien

Course entry requirements: None

Course outline:

This course examines some of the foundational issues of academic art history. How and where did the study of art history begin, and what were its founding principles? We consider its origins in the late 19th century and then trace how it has changed in the course of the succeeding century and into the contemporary period. We look at debates over issues of aesthetic quality, questions of the relationship between art and society, questions of the art-historical canon and its exclusions. The core theme is art history as a subject of academic study, but this inevitably links to broader issues of how art is taught within the art school and of how art is exhibited within the museum.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Thursday – 5th period.

DP requirements: At least 80% attendance of tutorials and satisfactory completion of 2 assignments per semester.

Assessment: Coursework (60%), 2-hour examination (40%).

FIN3011W PAINTING 3

60 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: F Saptouw

Course entry requirements: FIN2011W Painting 2. Due to the nature of the discipline, spatial and technical limitations and Health and Safety legislation, student numbers will be limited and students' results will be taken into consideration.

Course outline:

First semester: Surface and medium are key components in the generation of meaning in contemporary painting. Students are expected to explore historical precedents from 20th century modernism and postmodernism and to create works where the implications of surface and materiality in painting are primary. Students are required to expand the range of painting medium and consider using substances that might function as alternatives to paint, thereby expanding the range of paint beyond that which is commercially available. Traditional supports may be used or alternatives considered. Scale and format are also examined to encourage students to move beyond the conventions of the rectangle. After immersion into alternative media students are then engaged in ideas generation and conceptual responses to painting. Historically rooted in modernist minimalism and conceptualism, process work is key here. Second semester: Utilising the ideas and methods generated in the first semester students move into a self-motivated development of their own work conceived within the terrain of contemporary painting.

Lecture times: Monday to Friday, 14h00 to 17h00. Studio times: Studio times are from 09h00 to 17h00, with students breaking to attend lectures and tutorials as required by the timetable.

DP requirements: At least 80% attendance of studio classes and critiques, satisfactory completion of all projects.

Assessment: Mid-year coursework examination 40%, year-end coursework examination 50%, attendance & participation 10%.

This focus will enable students to situate their own creative practice – whether artistic, curatorial or theoretical – within the contemporary (and future) moment. Students will develop advanced skills in visual and auditory analysis, critical thinking as well as approaches to visual, textual, auditory, and other forms of research and knowledge production.

FIN3028F RACE, GENDER AND DECOLONIAL PRAXIS

30 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: Dr P Malatjie

Course entry requirements: FIN1006F, FIN1009S, FIN2028S and FIN2029F.

Course outline:

This course considers decolonial artistic and curatorial praxes by focusing on blackness, neoliberalism, decoloniality, fat studies, disability studies, spirituality, sound studies, race and technology, and rest. It unpacks notions of normativity that are at the root of colonial and neoliberal frameworks, and considers ways in which these normative structures might be disrupted and undermined. Through a critical analysis of theory, politics and practice, the course is aimed at facilitating discussions about intersecting discourses of class, gender, race and sexuality. It centres debates, discussions, and critical thinking that move beyond pre-determined and limiting modes of engaging with artistic practice. Focusing on the Global South, students will learn different approaches to transdisciplinary and decolonial critical methodologies, with a keen focus on modes of resistance, refusal and fugitivity.

Lecture times: Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, 5th period

DP requirements: At least 80% attendance at tutorials and lectures and satisfactory completion of all written assignments. Late essays penalised by 5% per day (including weekends).

Assessment: 100% coursework (formative and summative essays) and no written examination.

FIN3029S BORDERS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE IN THE ARTS

30 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: Professor N Makhubu

Course entry requirements: FIN1006F, FIN1009S, FIN2028S and FIN2029F.

Course outline:

This course examines selected case studies of art interventions advocating for social justice in relation to migration and mobility across political, cultural and social borders. We discuss spatial scales, globalisation, borderlands, internal conflicts, statelessness, exile, fugitivity, affective publics, marginality, citizenship and belonging. Through the inter-disciplinary field of visual culture and what has been characterised as the 'spatial turn' in the arts and cultural studies, the course takes critical approaches to the mutually dependent notions of space and place. Although there is emphasis on visual culture, this course is rooted in art history, architecture and/or the built environment. The notion that "place is involved with embodiment" positions bodies as central loci from which space is understood. Bodies inhabit and perform in space. The course focusses on relations between space, time and the body. Regulations of space are, in effect, regulations of the body. Here we consider the distinctions of public and private domains as well as modes of access and concepts of belonging or not belonging, being 'native' or 'foreign'.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Thursday 5th period

DP requirements: 50% of coursework completed and satisfactory submission of research paper. Late essays penalised by 5% per day (including weekends).

Assessment: Assignments 15%, Research paper 85%.

Course outline:

This course aims to develop a broad understanding of how the Earth works. Over its >4.5 billion-year-long history, the Earth has been shaped by chemical, physical and biological processes. The course demonstrates why decoding the rock record of deep-time events is critical for explaining past, present and future environmental changes and the distribution of natural resources. It examines the interplay of terrestrial, marine, atmospheric, and cryospheric processes within the Earth system, with an emphasis on monitoring essential variables for understanding climate variability and change. The Earth has also sustained life over the last >3.5 billion years. Our species, Homo sapiens, is a relatively recent arrival, yet it has had, and continues to have, the greatest impact on our planet. The course reviews human evolution and how we became the dominant cause of global environmental change. The course also explores the social risks and vulnerabilities in response to the Earth's biophysical processes and change. The course concludes with attention to the concepts of environmental hazard, risk, resilience, monitoring and adaptation.

Lecture times: Monday - Friday, 2nd period

DP requirements: An average of 40% on all marked classwork and tests. Submission of 80% of weekly assignments in each of the four sections (i.e., GEO, AGE, SEA, EGS). Attendance of the field trip is compulsory for students majoring in Archaeology, EGS, Geology, or Oceanography.

The Kaplan Centre was established in 1980 under the terms of a gift to the University of Cape Town by the Kaplan Kushlick Foundation and is named in honour of the parents of Mendel and Robert Kaplan.

The Centre, the only one of its kind in Africa, seeks to stimulate and promote the field of Jewish studies at the University, with a special focus on research into the South African Jewish community. Multidisciplinary in scope, the Centre encourages the participation of scholars from a range of fields at UCT and beyond.

The Centre serves as a coordinating unit in the university, using its resources to invite distinguished scholars to UCT, to initiate and sponsor research that includes largescale historical and sociological studies, and to strengthen the university's library holding of books, microfilms and archival sources. The Centre awards a limited number of undergraduate and graduate scholarships, as well as research grants.

The Centre organizes and hosts a regular roster of public lectures, symposia, and conferences. The latter includes an ongoing biennial conference series in partnership with the University of Southampton, University of Sydney, and Tulane University. It also has an active publications programme which brings out monographs and occasional papers.

HST1013F CONNECTIONS AND INTERRUPTIONS, 1500-1800

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: TBA

Course entry requirements: None

Course outline:

We often do not realise how much of our contemporary, everyday world has been shaped by processes of the long past. Through a carefully selected set of practices, objects, events, ideas and institutions, this course offers a broad and critical narrative of world history from the sixteenth to the end of the eighteenth century. While new links came to be forged between hitherto unconnected world regions through an increased level of travel, commerce and colonisation during this period, for many societies in the world it was also a profound experience of rupture with their traditional modes of social organisation. In encouraging students to think dialectically about this complex interaction, this course aims at providing them with a firm grounding in both empirical and conceptual literature appropriate to a first-year undergraduate programme.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 3rd period.

DP requirements: 100% of required coursework and course evaluation.

HST1014S EMPIRES AND MODERNITIES

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Dr A SenCourse entry requirements: NoneCourse outline:

Histories of modernity are inextricably entwined with histories of empires. Even in a time when the formal empires have arguably collapsed, the categories through which we approach the modern world are still deeply shaped by the persistence of imperial modes of thinking. This course focuses on a range of key concepts of modernity and encourages students to think critically about these concepts by drawing particular attention to the tensions between their metropolitan and colonial careers. The course offers a broad and critical narrative of world history from the nineteenth through the twenty-first century. A primary goal of the course is to provide students with an understanding of how these concepts carry many different histories within them, how they are open to contending interpretations, and how crucial the sense of their varied historical contexts is to the practice of social sciences and humanities. As an introductory course to Historical Studies, we use content that engages the diversity of students' lifeworlds and is cognisant of our African location. We employ innovative teaching and delivery methods, including multilingual pedagogies and digital literacy, that allow more time for active engagement and the development of critical reading and writing skills in the Humanities.

Lecture times: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 3rd period.DP requirements: 100% of required coursework and course evaluation.Assessment: Continuous assessment (essays, projects, tests, etc.) counts 100%.

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Dr A Masola

Course entry requirements: At least two courses in historical, social science or cultural studies offered by the Faculty of Humanities, or by permission of the Head of Department.

Course outline:

This course is aimed at introducing students to the long pasts of the southern African region before the twentieth century. Instead of assuming that this history was inevitably leading to the emergence of a nation-state, this course examines the complex historical processes of making and unmaking of identities and territories. The topics include historiographical debates, the nature of precolonial societies and states, colonial conquest and violence, slavery and resistance, colonial governance, frontier narratives, missionary power, the mineral revolution and the South African War at the end of the nineteenth century. Rather than privileging the action of settlers, this course focuses on the ways in which African people remade and reformulated their polities and societies in the context of conflict and conquest. In drawing on historical materials from different interior regions of southern Africa, it also challenges the Cape-centric bias of the conventional historiography.

Lecture times: Monday, Wednesday, Friday 3rd period.

The ways in which people remember, forget and silence their past are indispensable to how they construct and sustain their identities. South African and international historical literature will be used to develop comparative case studies on trauma and memory in post-authoritarian countries such as South Africa, Rwanda and post-war Germany. A central theme linking these diverse case studies is the impact of traumatic experiences on the making of life, community and national histories, and the significance of reconciliatory processes such as the TRC and gacaca. Through these case studies, students will have the opportunity to explore specific memory/identity themes such as self, community, gender, culture and politics. The course will also help students to interpret examples of remembrance that are represented through writing, oral histories, films, cartoons, spaces, archives and memorialisation.

30 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: Associate Professor B KarCourse entry requirements: HST2040F and any other 2000-level HST major courses, or by permission of the Head of Department.Course outline:

This course aims at equipping undergraduate students with a critical understanding of a broad range of complex and diverse intellectual traditions in modern African worlds of thought. Its emphasis is on debates and arguments, conversations and contestations, connections and displacements. In contrast to an essentialised and unitary notion of African thought, this course emphasizes the plural and dynamic worlds of African intellectuality, drawing particular attention to the vibrant histories of critiques and auto-critiques. In doing so, it also provides a basic sense of the various historical contexts of continental and diasporic activism in which these intellectual approaches were formulated and discussed. Among other themes, we engage the debates on and around decolonisation and violence, nationalism and tribalism, afro-communism and afro-feminism, precolonial epistemologies and customary law, aesthetics and materiality, religion and pedagogy, and postcolonial and neoliberal conditions. The study materials used in this course include original texts by African thinkers, visual sources, and musical compositions.

Using comparisons between different regions and countries, this course investigates why countries which are resource rich have not been able to use these resources to improve living standards and encourage broad-based economic development. It also examines the roles international business and labour have played in the economic history of individual countries. Finally, the course tracks the changing place of Africa in the global economy.

Lecture times: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 6th period.

DP requirements: 100% of required coursework and course evaluation.

Assessment: Coursework counts for 50%, one examination at the end of the semester counts for 50%.

INF3003W SYSTEMS DEVELOPMENT PROJECT I

48 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: W Uys

Course entry requirements: All second year Information Systems courses.

Objective: It aims to equip the student with crucial problem-solving skills using object-oriented software development techniques, and endeavours to improve technical document writing skills.

Course outline:

This whole year course is for students majoring in Information Systems (IS) to gain an understanding of the issues that are influencing ICT projects and experience the development and implementation of such a project. This course combines the theoretical elements of project management with the practical implementation of these concepts through the completion of a systems development team project, integrating practical and theoretical elements obtained and developed during other undergraduate IS courses. The theoretical parts of this course aim to make the project team experiences more true to life, aiding the development of a project practitioner. Students should be aware that successful project management consists of a sound plan (using project management tools and techniques) and strong people management to direct the plan through to the completion of the project's deliverables. The basis for this development process is an interactive project team environment of learning through experiences and reflection. The practical part of this course involves the application and implementation of these concepts following the full life cycle of a team-based IS project in a real-life setting.

Lecture times: First semester: 10h00-10h45 Monday and Tuesday, and 10h00-11h45 Wednesday and Friday, and 10h00-12h45 Thursday Second semester: 12h00-12h45 Thursday

DP requirements: Students will be considered to have duly performed the course work if they have obtained a minimum of 45% for their year mark.

Assessment: Coursework 60%. (Weekly coding workshops and tutorials, as well as continuous assignments for the team project culminating in a formal presentation and code presentation). Teamwork makes up 40% of the course mark. Exam 40%. Sub-minimum of 40% for the examination (both Project Management and Code).

A. Language and Literature courses and majors

Students are welcome to register for any language taught by the School, whether or not they have studied the language before. The School offers introductory courses in each of its languages. Furthermore, the School welcomes not only those who intend to specialise in any of its languages, but also those who would like to get an introduction to a language and/or are not able to fit more than one or two courses into their degree programmes. A student who, within the preceding five years, has passed a relevant language at Matric level with at least a C symbol, 4 at NSC (or a course recognised as equivalent) will not be admitted to the introductory course of that language for degree purposes, unless the Head of Section is satisfied that for some special reason he/she is not able to perform the work of the second-year first-semester course.

Students can major in any one of the following languages: Afrikaans, Arabic, Chinese, French, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish and Xhosa (majors in Latin and Greek are subsumed within Classical Studies). A major in a language gives admission to the Honours course in that language and also meets the requirement for anyone wishing to offer a language as a teaching subject after completion of the Postgraduate Certificate in Education course.

B. Cultural Studies

The School offers courses in the fields of cultural, literary, film and historical studies which can comprise a major in Classical Studies and can be taken as electives. Some combinations of these courses qualify the student for admission into Honours courses. These undergraduate courses are taught and examined in English, but where a student wishes to take a course as part of a language major the School will set assignments and examination questions in the relevant language.

LAW

The Law departments are housed in the Wilfred & Jules Kramer Law School, Middle Campus.

Faculty website: <https://law.uct.ac.za/>

The Department of Private Law can be contacted by email at: nikki.campbell@uct.ac.za, or telephone: 021 650-5609.

The letter code for the Department is PVL.

The Department of Public Law can be contacted by email at: rene.francke@uct.ac.za, or telephone: 021 650 3072.

The letter code for the Department is PBL.

Notes on requirements for intending Law students:

1. Law is a two-year major: students in the three-year general BA or BSocSc start it in their second-year, and student in the extended (four-year) general BA or BSocSc start it in their third-year. It is not possible to start it in a subsequent year.
2. Students wishing to major in Law should indicate this when registering in their first-year (three-year degree students) or second-year (extended degree students) by adding the Law major code (PVL06) as a third major. Failing this, they must declare their intent by adding the major code by ACA09 Change of Curriculum submission on Peoplesoft no later than 15 November of the year before they wish to start the major.
3. Students intending to take the Law major should note that the six Law courses required by the major in themselves comprise the 8 non-Humanities credits permitted in a general degree. Any additional non-Humanities courses taken in the first or subsequent years will not count toward the degree credit total. Commercial Law courses are not part of the major and are not Humanities courses, so cannot be taken by Law major students without increasing the number of credits in the degree as a whole.
4. The number of places available on the law major stream is limited and varies from year to year. Places are offered on a competitive basis to candidates with the highest results and in accordance with the Law Faculty's redress enrolment targets. In order to be eligible for consideration for possible (but not guaranteed) admission to the law major stream of the BA/BSocSc degrees, candidates must have attained an average of at least 65% on a first sitting of a full course load (8 courses) totalling at least 144 credits in their first-year of study.
5. In order to be eligible for consideration for possible (but not guaranteed) admission to the law major stream, candidates in the extended (four-year degree) programme for the general BA/BSocSci degrees must have passed all their courses in their first and second-years of registration on a standard course-load (i.e. 6 semester courses per year, excluding co-requisite Augmenting courses, including at least two senior courses) on a first sitting and have obtained a cumulative average of at least 65% after completion of the second-year of the extended programme.

Important notes:

- The 65% GPA is the minimum requirement for candidates to be eligible for consideration for a place on a competitive basis. It does not guarantee a place. Given the large number of candidates who apply for the law major and the fact that places are limited and are offered on a competitive basis to candidates with the highest GPAs, it is likely that a candidate will require a GPA well above 65% in order to actually receive a place.
- Results in supplementary examinations are not included when calculating the first-year average but the results of deferred examinations are included.
- The Law Faculty retains the discretion to admit Humanities students with an average of less than 65% on redress grounds.

Course entry requirements: This course is restricted to students in their second year of study or higher. The course is intended for students majoring in Organisational Psychology, but students from other streams/faculties may choose this course as an elective.

Course outline:

The practices and underlying theories covered in BUS2024F - Psychology of Human Resource Management (HRM) serve to recruit, develop and retain the best employees, and to ensure that people are treated fairly at their places of work. Whether or not employees perform to the best of their ability also depends on the interpersonal relationships they have at work. Human interactions are complex, and each relationship is unique, but if you understand human behaviour in organisations (called Organisational Behaviour (OB) you can create ways of interacting which are likely to result in effective working environments, that is, environments in which employees feel they are treated fairly, are committed to their work and motivated to contribute to the organisation's success. OB is one of the areas which distinguishes work psychology from HRM: To understand human interactions you require a thorough knowledge of psychology. In this course, we will teach how to apply OB theory to understand the behaviour of people working in organisations, particularly under consideration of the South African workplace context, and to critically reflect on your own behaviour when working with others.

DP requirements: None.

Assessment: Coursework 60% (assignments, tests), Final examination 40%.

Entrance requirements for a major in Music [MUZ08] within the Bachelor of Arts degree:

Students registering for General Degrees who wish to take courses established in the South African College of Music must fulfil the following entrance requirements:

- (i) One of the following:
 - (a) 60% (HG) or 70% (SG) in Music (SC), or a 5 rating in Music (NSC), or equivalent examination;
OR
 - (b) A pass in the Grade V Theory of Music examination and Grade VII practical examination of the University of South Africa or in examinations recognised by Senate as equivalent;
OR
 - (c) Satisfies the Admission Board of the SA College of Music by practical audition and theory examination that they can register for the courses with a reasonable expectation of successfully completing the courses in the period required in terms of Faculty rules.
- (ii) Students must pass a Theory of Music Entrance Test.
- (iii) For entrance to practical courses (Instrument B1 or B2 or B3), an audition will be required. A successful audition does not guarantee a place in the practical courses of the BA music major. Admission to practical courses is at the discretion of the Director of the SACM.

Requirements for a major in Music within the Bachelor of Arts degree [MUZ08]

These courses are taken in addition to courses for the other major(s): please read in conjunction with Faculty Rules FBI-7 at the beginning of this book. Please note that a BA with a music major does not qualify the student to do a PGCE in music. Students wishing to go on to a teaching qualification in music must register for the Bachelor of Music or the Diploma in Music Performance. Please also note that practical subjects (instrumental or vocal studies) are at the discretion of the Director and subject to budget and teacher availability constraints.

Convener: Dr R Deja

Course entry requirements: A pass in Worlds of Music I.

Course outline:

The course aims for a critical understanding of the development of musics in societies that experience periods of conflict or upheaval—social, political, religious, ecological, or other kinds—in recent and/or historical times; it is partly a way to consider the extraordinarily violent social, political and ecological disjunctions of the 20th century, and the work of music and musicians in creating both solidarity and division. The course is rooted in a working knowledge of the construction and function of some of the world's most distinctive musics. It involves lectures, readings, videos, sound recordings, works of art in other media, attendance—when possible—at live performances, and student mini-presentations on particular aspects of the work. In the past the course has considered: flamenco in Andalusia and the larger Spanish context; the experiences of Rom musicians in different parts of Europe; the New Song movement (nueva canción) in Cuba, Chile, and Argentina; music before and after the Cuban revolution, and after the crisis starting in 1990; Burmese traditional musics since the 1960s; and the music and arts of Aborigines in Australia. Given the need to master a volume and range of unfamiliar literature, the number of topics is limited.

This course may also be offered in Summer Term for limited numbers of students - please consult the department.

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Professor R Nefdt

Course entry requirements: None

Course outline:

This course is an introduction to philosophy that aims to make students more conscious, creative and critical in thinking about their own fundamental beliefs and values. Fundamental issues investigated include: the nature and possibility of knowledge, self-knowledge, the relationship between the mind and the body, the knowledge of other minds, whether we have free will, and whether life has a meaning. These issues are explored with the help of classical and contemporary philosophers, including Plato, Aristotle, Aquinas, Descartes, Hume, Biko, Appiah, Menkiti, Haslanger and others. As an introductory course, we use content that engages the diversity of students' lifeworlds and is cognizant of our African location. We employ innovative teaching and delivery methods that allow more time for active engagement and the development of critical reading and writing skills in the Humanities.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 5th period.

PHI1025F CRITICAL THINKING

This course may also be offered in Summer Term for limited numbers of students - please consult the department.

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: TBA

Course entry requirements: None

Course outline:

Why do we value our beliefs? We value them because we take them to be true and, as true, they are good guides. But how can we tell when a belief is true? Our only handle here is whether or not the belief is justified. So we aim to have beliefs that are justified. The course concentrates on the practical business of appraising justifications. Of course, we all routinely attempt to justify our beliefs and arrive at new beliefs on the basis of supposed justifications. But almost as routinely we are hoodwinked. The course aims to make students better believers by making them more aware of the nature of justification, of the different sorts of justification and the pitfalls of each. At the end of it they will be less gullible and more able to explain just why a particular argument does or doesn't convince them. As an Introductory course we employ teaching and delivery methods that allow for active engagement and the development of critical reading and writing skills in the Humanities.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 3rd period.

DP requirements: Regular attendance at lectures and tutorials; completion of all tests, submission of all essays and assignments by due dates, and an average mark of at least 35% for the coursework.

PHI2041S GREAT PHILOSOPHERS

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Associate Professor T Angier

Course entry requirements: At least second year status and the successful completion of any PHI course. However, completing PHI1024F before attempting PHI2041S is strongly encouraged.

Course outline:

This course will introduce students to a selection of philosophy's major figures. The figures chosen may vary from year to year but they will be selected on the basis of their originality, profundity, influence and on the degree to which their works speak to one another. Philosophy often proceeds through an engagement with its past and engaging with one's philosophical inheritance is one of the most rewarding aspects of studying philosophy. This course will ask students to try to understand a set of historical thinkers and writers not as contemporaries who can be presumed to share our philosophical concerns nor yet as merely historical figures; rather we shall try to appreciate the thinker's writings in the context of his own concerns, which may differ significantly from ours. We shall discover that, when properly understood in this way, these thinkers still have relevance.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 4th period.

DP requirements: Regular attendance at lectures and tutorials; completion of all tests, submission of all essays and assignments by due dates, and an average mark of at least 35% for the coursework.

Assessment: Coursework counts 40%; one 3-hour examination in October/November counts 60%.

This course may also be offered in Summer/ Winter Term for limited numbers of students - please consult the department.

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Associate Professor T Angier

Course entry requirements: At least second year status.

Course outline:

What should our government do for us? Do the rich owe anything to the poor? Should society accept all cultures, or are there limits to tolerance? Is democracy really a good system? What is a just war, and can terrorism be justified? These are some of the questions asked in political philosophy. This course approaches the field in two ways. We choose several great political philosophers from ancient times to the twentieth century, and discuss their aims and arguments. Then we select some areas from contemporary political philosophy, and assess solutions to perpetual or recent problems in these areas.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 2nd period.

DP requirements: Regular attendance at lectures and tutorials; completion of all tests, submission of all essays and assignments by due dates, and an average mark of at least 35% for the coursework.

Ethical choices are unavoidable in business. This course aims to help students to articulate their options when confronted with an ethical dilemma in business, and to make well-informed judgements about the right thing to do. The course will consider a range of problems, from issues that could arise in a student's first job to questions of business regulation that they may one day face as a leader in commerce or government. In each case, the course will challenge and assist students to recognise ethical problems in practical situations, understand the possible solutions, and make reasoned decisions.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 3rd or 4th period.

DP requirements: Regular attendance at lectures and tutorials; completion of all tests, submission of all essays and assignments by due dates, and an average mark of at least 35% for the coursework.

Assessment: Coursework counts 40%; one 3-hour examination in June or October/November counts 60%.

PHI2044F PHILOSOPHY OF MATHEMATICS

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Professor B Weiss

Course entry requirements: Second year status and at least 50% for Matric mathematics, or a pass for a MAM course, or a lower intermediate score for the NBT in Quantitative Literacy.

Course outline:

Mathematics – the paradigm of a successful intellectual practice, with highly secure results and many important applications – raises deep philosophical questions. For instance, if mathematical objects (like numbers) are not in time or space, then how can we know anything about these objects, and how can mathematics be of any use in understanding the physical world? Some other questions: Does mathematics have a foundation? What is a good mathematical explanation? In what ways does the discipline of mathematics develop? This course discusses and evaluates major contributions, both historical and current, to the philosophy of mathematics. The intended audience includes students who enjoy more abstract areas of philosophy in general as well as those interested in the significance of mathematics in particular.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 6th period.

DP requirements: Regular attendance at lectures and tutorials; completion of all tests, submission of all essays and assignments by due dates, and an average mark of at least 35% for the coursework.

Assessment: Coursework counts 40%, one 3-hour examination in June counts 60%.

PHI2045S PHILOSOPHY OF RACE

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: TBA

Course entry requirements: At least second year status.

Course outline:

Many of the topics of public debate in contemporary South Africa raise intriguing philosophical questions: Morally speaking, does most of the Western Cape actually belong to the Khoisan? Does being indigenous (if that concept makes sense) give one certain moral rights? Has the achievement of legal equality liberated black people, or would true liberation require the rediscovery of a distinctive identity? What special responsibilities (if any) do formerly advantaged groups have today? This course brings the tools of philosophical argument and analysis to bear on such problems, making use of, e.g., contemporary theories of moral ownership rights and the phenomenon of “epistemic injustice”. In addition, it traces the intellectual ancestry of ideas such as those of Black Consciousness, critically examining the attempts of theorists such as Hegel, Fanon, Césaire and Biko to theorise about oppression, identity, empowerment and the predicament of colonised peoples.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 5th period.

DP requirements: Regular attendance at lectures and tutorials; completion of all tests, submission of all essays and assignments by due dates, and an average mark of at least 35% for the coursework.

Assessment: Coursework counts 40%; one three-hour examination in October/November counts 60%.

PHI3023F LOGIC AND LANGUAGE

30 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: Professor B Weiss

Course entry requirements: PHI2041S and any one of the other second year PHI courses that count towards the major.

Course outline:

The philosophical investigation of linguistic meaning came to occupy a pivotal role in philosophy a little over a hundred years ago. The investigation became pivotal because the notion seems deeply perplexing — what sort of relation does a linguistic sign bear to what it represents? how do we form the ability to understand a potential infinity of sentences? — and because, more controversially, it came to seem that we could pursue many other questions in philosophy by looking at how language works. The philosophical focus on language was facilitated by developments in logical theory. The course begins by equipping the student with the technical basis in logic and then builds on this to explore the workings of language.

Lecture times: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday 7th period.

DP requirements: Regular attendance at lectures and tutorials; completion of all tests, submission of all essays and assignments by due dates, and an average mark of at least 35% for the coursework.

Assessment: Coursework counts 40%; one 3-hour examination in June counts 60%.

PHI3024S METAPHYSICS AND EPISTEMOLOGY

30 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: Associate Professor J Ritchie

Course entry requirements: PHI2041S and any one of the other second year PHI courses that count toward the major, and PHI3023F.

Course outline:

On one widespread conception, metaphysics is a first-order inquiry into “what there is”, whilst epistemology is second-order inquiry reflecting on “what it takes to know what there is.” But the pursuit of epistemology raises metaphysical questions too: what do our ways of knowing tell us about human nature, and the nature of the world? This course explores some core contemporary issues in both areas of inquiry, and considers the relationship between them. Topics in metaphysics may include contemporary investigations into the nature of the mind, its relations to the body and the external world, as well as the nature of causation, space and time. The course may also include some reflection on how, if at all, metaphysical knowledge is possible. Topics in epistemology may include exploring contemporary debates regarding the conception of knowledge, the structure and nature of epistemic justification, the relationship between reasons and beliefs and the value (if any) of scepticism.

Lecture times: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 7th period.

DP requirements: Regular attendance at lectures and tutorials; completion of all tests, submission of all essays and assignments by due dates, and an average mark of at least 35% for the coursework.

Assessment: Coursework counts 40%; one 3-hour examination in October / November counts 60%.

As an introductory course, we use content that engages the diversity of students' life worlds and is cognisant of our African location. We employ innovative teaching and delivery methods that allow more time for active engagement and the development of critical reading and writing skills in the Humanities.

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Associate Professor V NaidooCourse entry requirements: POL1004F and POL1005S or with special permission from the Head of Department.Course outline:

Public administration represents the most visible, and in many ways, the most active part of government. It is also that aspect of government that we probably know the least about, because it is comprised of a large army of non-elected officials working behind the scenes to implement legislation and policy. In this course, we will survey the history and contemporary practice of public administration (or public bureaucracies) around the world. Some of the key questions that we will aim to answer are: what is the proper place and role of public administration in a democracy? What are the benefits and potential risks of public administration in democratic government? What impact does public administration have on our lives as citizens? How can we construct effective working relationships between elected politicians and unelected administrators. And finally, what role can public administration play in responding to global policy crisis? Although this course adopts a comparative perspective, we will pay particular attention to the role that public administration has played in democratic transitions in South and Southern Africa.

Requirements for a Bachelor of Social Work Degree

Professional registration and conduct

Practice in the field of Social Work is regulated by the South African Council for Social Service Professions, with which all Social Workers must register. The Council lays down the minimum standards of both academic and practical training requisite for professional registration, and the Department of Social Work and Social Development provides training according to these standards. The University offered a three-year BSocSc degree in Social Work for students who first registered before 2007. These students were required to complete an appropriate Honours degree offered by the Department of Social Work and Social Development in order to obtain professional registration with the South African Council for Social Service Professions. From 2007, students registered for a four-year Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) degree in order to obtain professional registration with the South African Council for Social Service Professions.

Students registered for the professional degrees in social work are required by statute to register from their second-year of study with the South African Council for Social Service Professions as a student social worker. As such they are bound by the Council's professional code of conduct. Students who do not adhere to this code of conduct may be required to terminate their registration in the Faculty. Should a student in the course of his/her studies or who qualifies for the award of the degree that allows for professional registration with the said Council be deemed unfit to practise as a social worker following a professional assessment, the Dean will report the outcome of such professional assessment to the Council and inform the student accordingly.

SOC1001F INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Professor J Seekings

Course entry requirements: None

Course outline:

People move through life in a set of socially structured institutions like the family, education, work and eldership. How are we shaped by the society around us? What part can we play in shaping our society? How have sociologists tried to make sense of the society around us in which our everyday experience is located? What is the sociological imagination? How does it help us to go beneath surface appearances to better understand what is happening? The course introduces students to major ways in which sociologists have grappled to make sense of historically dynamic society in an increasingly globalised context.

Lecture times: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 4th or 6th period.

DP requirements: Completion of all written tests, essays and assignments.

Assessment: Continuous assessment (essays, projects, tests, etc.) counts 100%.

SOC1005S INDIVIDUAL AND SOCIETY

This course may also be offered in Summer Term - please consult the department.

15 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Associate Professor J de Wet

Course entry requirements: None

Course outline:

This is an introductory course, designed to explore key issues and activities in South African society today. It aims to assist the student to search for and identify accurate information and relevant ideas, situate these in social context, and to outline and begin to probe views around key social issues. We live in a society with deeply structured social inequalities and a range of issues and problems which people confront every day. What is actually happening to people positioned differently in society? What is changing and what is continuing? How do ordinary people deal with these issues? What forms of organisation and action do they turn to as they try to meet their needs and build lives which are fulfilling and dignified? The course examines selected social processes, structures, institutions and behaviours which help us understand these issues and ways of dealing with them.

Lecture times: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 4th or 6th period.

DP requirements: Completion of all written tests, essays and assignments as set.

Assessment: Continuous assessment (essays, projects, tests, etc.) counts 100%.

PBL2800F CRIME AND DEVIANCE IN SOUTH AFRICAN CITIES

NOTE: This course is offered through Sociology by the Department of Public Law.

24 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: TBA

Course entry requirements: SOC1001F or SOC1005S or any 1000-level social science course.

Course outline:

There are two objectives in the course. In the first place, we consider the nature of deviance, crime and criminality in South Africa, from both historical and current viewpoints. We consider questions such as: How much crime is there in South Africa? Who are the victims of crime and who are the offenders? Why is crime in South Africa so violent? This discussion will draw freely from international, criminological debate and locate those debates within a developing context. The second objective of the course aims at exploring responses to crime in the South African context. We consider questions such as: What has and is being done by the state and non-state to engage with crime? What is the thinking behind (violent) crime control and prevention programmes and initiatives? How effective have these initiatives been? This discussion will, for instance, focus on crime policies that have been developed as well as community and private sector initiatives to address issues of crime and violence.

DP requirements: Completion of all written tests, essays and assignments.

Assessment: Coursework counts 50% and one two-hour examination counts 50% of the final mark.

SOC2004S RACE, CLASS, GENDER & SEXUALITY

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Professor A Pande

Course entry requirements: SOC1001F or SOC1005S or at least three 1000-level social science courses, and be in the second or subsequent year of study.

Course outline:

This course introduces and critically examines various understandings of the social categories race, class, gender and sexuality, among others. Instead of assuming these categories to be biological, ahistorical and/or static, we use theories of social constructionism to analyse these categories as relational and contingent – depending on the historical, political, socio-cultural, economic and national contexts. Finally the class explores ways in which these categories intersect to shape experiences of inequalities in South Africa and outside, both historically and in the present.

Lecture times: Tuesday, Thursday, 7th and 8th periods.

DP requirements: Completion of all written tests, essays and assignments.

Assessment: Coursework counts 70%; an examination counts 30% of the final mark.

Convener: Professor E Moore

Course entry requirements: SOC1001F or SOC1005S or at least three 1000-level social science courses, and be in the second or subsequent year of study.

Course outline:

This course proceeds from the view that in order to understand the relationship between culture and society in contemporary times, we need to understand the workings of power. The ways in which power organises our domestic spheres, everyday disposition, and performances of selves and identities have gone through rapid changes in the 20th and 21st centuries. This course maps the ways in which different modes of power have historically shaped our gender roles, our understanding of authority, tradition, and adversarial relationships between different ethnicised and racialised groups. At a time when issues of gender-based inequalities as well as civil strife demand our attention, this course examines the ways in which personal relationships and ethnicised communities have become sites of intimate and public violence in contemporary Africa and South Africa. It seeks to offer a historically grounded account of the role that culture has played in this context, and its relationship with our contentious and violent present.

Lecture times: Tuesday to Friday 2nd period.

DP requirements: Completion of all written tests, essays and assignments.

Assessment: Coursework counts 60%; an examination counts 40% of the final mark.

SOC3029S INDUSTRIAL SOCIETY & SOCIAL CHANGE

30 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: Associate Professor F Garba Muhammed

Course entry requirements: SOC2015S and any other 2000-level course in Sociology, and be in the third or subsequent year of study.

Course outline:

South Africa post 1994 has become an integral part of the globalised economy. This course examines socio-economic issues with a particular focus on the world of work, exploring change and continuity in terms of theory, policy and the lived experience of everyday life. It asks, what is changing? Where is change coming from? Who is driving change? Who benefits from change? What challenges stand in the way of development towards a more just society? Against the background of questions such as these, industrial society, broader political economy questions and popular traditions of mobilising and organising form the backbone of the course. We thus look at the world of work broadly, inequality, citizenship, social welfare and services, governance, education, alienation, migration and mobility, health and others. The course explores these issues in the context of globalisation, using specific illustrative case study material primarily from South African post-1994 industrial society, while drawing illuminating material from other national and transnational contexts.

Lecture times: Tuesday to Friday 5th period.

DP requirements: Completion of all written tests, essays and assignments.

Assessment: Coursework counts 70%; an examination counts 30% of the final mark.

SOC3031S SOCIAL JUSTICE AND INEQUALITY

30 NQF credits at NQF level 7

Convener: N Mabandla

Course entry requirements: Any two 2000-level SOC courses and be in the third or subsequent year of study

Course outline:

This course examines contemporary international debates on the social discourses and practices that perpetuate injustice and inequality and their relevance to understanding South African society. The literature may include debates on the way discourses create centres and margins, resulting in social differences which, in turn, have a significant impact on people's life chances. The literature may also include debates on the changing patterns of urban and rural inequality. Who are the winners and losers in today's society? What are the causes of new patterns of social injustice and inequality? In reading a wide literature, students will be provided with comparative concepts with which they can begin to interpret the emerging patterns of social justice and inequality in South Africa.

Lecture times: Tuesday to Friday 6th period.

DP requirements: Completion of all written tests, essays and assignments.

Assessment: Coursework counts 70%; an examination counts 30% of the final mark.

18 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: J-L Crewe

Course entry requirements: This course is compulsory for all students enrolled for the BA Theatre and Performance and the Diploma in Theatre and Performance. Students from the general degrees will be admitted subject to Head of Department's approval, and subject to capacity.

Course outline:

This hands-on, intensely practical course introduces students to selected aspects of theatre production including stage management, properties, costume, lighting and sound. The role and functions of the FOH personnel, stage-manager, props ASM, lighting and sound operator/technicians will be explored and practised in workshops and by assignment on production.

Lecture times: Lectures and practicals scheduled departmentally. Students will also be assigned to between one and three productions for their apprenticeship practicums and attendance will be compulsory at all times stipulated by the nature of the job. This could encompass attendance at rehearsals, performances and in the Little Theatre office, wardrobe and workshops. Participation will generally last for the duration of one production and will therefore be sporadic through the year. Students should note that this course requires a considerable commitment of time as the learning situation is provided by the work circumstances. Fieldwork components may be included in the course.

DP requirements: Attendance at all rehearsals/performances/office experience slots as assigned. In order to obtain a DP certificate, students must earn the required number of apprenticeship 'credits' by completing sufficient apprenticeship practicums as determined by the course co-ordinator in any particular year. In addition students are required to complete any Front of House assignments set for them by the course co-ordinator.

Assessment: Coursework counts for 40% of final mark; examination counts for 60%. A sub-minimum of 40% must be achieved in coursework and the examination.

TDP1018H STAGECRAFT B

18 NQF credits at NQF level 5

Convener: Associate Professor S Matchett

Course entry requirements: Students must have completed TDP1017H. This course is compulsory for all students enrolled for the BA Theatre and Performance and the Diploma in Theatre and Performance. Students from the general degrees will be admitted subject to Head of Department's approval, and subject to capacity.

Course outline:

Students are introduced to the notion of a production concept, its importance in relation to the staging of a performance piece and the manner in which it permeates every aspect of creating a production/performance, from design particularly (scenery, lighting, costume and make-up) through to acting style. Mission Statement

The Department for the Study of Religions is committed to the study of religions which will contribute to public life in our local, regional, national and continental contexts. It is dedicated to:

- the open, plural, intercultural, and interdisciplinary study of religion in all its forms;
- the in-depth study of African religious traditions;
- the creative and critical analysis of religion as a force in personal, social, economic and political life;

- the promotion of quality education and research in the study of religion as a vital contribution to the transformation and development of South Africa.

The mission statement is implemented through degree specialisations that focus on the broad themes of religion, culture, identity and ethics. The Department offers a systematic study of religion in public life, its meaning and significance in South Africa in particular and Africa in general. These themes are explored in core courses team-taught by faculty members and also reflected in various research projects and institutes presently housed in the Department.

Core courses provide the thematic, methodological and theoretical foundations for all students who choose to pursue degrees in this department. Additional courses continue this focus within the established areas of specialisation: African Studies, Christian Studies, Comparative Studies, Islamic Studies, Jewish Studies, Buddhism and Japanese Religions, and Critical Theory.

Centre for Contemporary Islam (CCI)

The CCI is located in the Department for the Study of Religions, Leslie Social Science Building, Upper Campus.

Website: <https://cci.uct.ac.za>

Director and Co-Director: Professor S Shaikh (Study of Religions) and Associate Professor Fatima Seedat (African Feminist Studies).

The CCI was founded in 1995 to bring attention to the scholarly study of Islam and Muslim societies and communities. From Oct 2021, under the new leadership of Prof Shaikh and A/Prof Seedat, the CCI functions as feminist, decolonial research and teaching hub for the study of Islam, gender and sexuality in Africa and globally. The CCI has housed numerous research projects over the last 26 years including Muslim Scholars in the History of the Lake Chad Area (Dr Andrea Brigaglia); Islam and Public Life in Africa and Biographies of Religious Engagement (Prof Abdulkader Tayob); South African Muslim Women: Sexuality, Marriage and Reproductive Choices and Theorizing Experience Subjectivity and Narrative in Studies of Gender and Islam (Prof Shaikh). The CCI provides a place for established and emerging researchers, as well as the general public to share ideas and develop insights about Islam and Muslim societies. Over the next five years CCI will develop research, teaching and advocacy on contemporary Muslim feminist approaches to ethics and law, to expand the epistemological foundations for gender justice and social transformation in Muslim communities.

African Centre for Religion, Ethics and Society (ACRES)

African Centre for Religions, Ethics and Society (ACRES) is headed by Professor Asonzeh Ukah as director and Professor Abdulkader Tayob as deputy director. Based in the Department for the Study of Religions, ACRES was established in 2021 as an amalgam of two pre-existing research units. These units were the Research Institute for Christianity and Society in Africa (RICSA) and a research project pioneered and Chaired by Professor Abdulkader Tayob on Islam, African Publics and Religious Values. The latter project is a core enterprise of the NRF Chair in the Department for the Study of Religions. After several years of working in silos, the coming together of these research strands was to give force and impetus to the place of African religions (Indigenous religions, Christianities and Islam) as a transforming and transformative force in African societies. ACRES is a pluridisciplinary think tank of eminent scholars from varying academic disciplines with the mandate to conduct empirical research on the changing character and the transformative potential of religion in contemporary African societies and elsewhere around the world. The undergirding philosophy of practice of ACRES is the rarely acknowledged historical understanding that in the past hundred and fifty years, the greatest, most pervasive, and most far-reaching socio-cultural transformation in Africa has been religious in character. Understanding the multi-faceted implications of this historical fact would shed light on different aspects of social, economic, cultural and political life in Africa and how these are connected to the global arena. The intellectual mandate of ACRES is the mapping out of the modes of religious epistemologies as an engine of socioethical transformation and a (potential) driver of social change in Africa and elsewhere. To this end, ACRES provides a platform for the development of research on the intersection of African religions, projects of development and transformation, moralities in the making and other aspects of social life. Scholars working in the centre investigate how religious knowledge and ethics intersect with other spheres of social experience and life, and further the collaboration and network among researchers in Africa, and at the international level on the critical study of African religions and their ethical doctrines and practices in contemporary society.

The Centre for the Study of Asian Religions (CSAR)

The Centre for the Study of Asian Religions (CSAR) is headed by Professor Elisabetta Porcu and aims to promote and systematize both the study of religious aspects of Asian culture in historical and contemporary perspective, and the interactions of Asian religions with South African culture and society. The CSAR coordinates the research of scholars and postgraduate research students based at the University of Cape Town, with the aim to foster the academic study of Asian religions and their interplay with society and culture within South Africa and beyond; foster collaborations and networks among colleagues within South Africa and at the international level for the study of this topic, among other objectives.

Course entry requirements: Completion of any two REL 2000-level courses; second- or third-year status; or permission of the Head of Department (second year students who are majoring in FAM would be given standard HOD allowance to take this course).

Course outline:

Religion's relationship with media begins with the voice and the text – the written word and the oral tradition of storytelling – as well as with accompanying visual signs. The investment of these means of communication with a sacred power is foundational to both religion and myth. This course will examine some of the foundational elements of oral, written and visual traditions and how the sacred power inherent in media are interpreted and amplified across cultures into new technological forms such as the printing press, radio, film, television and the internet. Religion has become increasingly textual, densely visual, intensely mediated. We will, for example, analyse religion in its connection with films, videos, and music both within and outside Africa; Japanese popular culture (manga and animated movies, or anime); as well as other instances of religion in and through the media worldwide. Further, we will investigate the diverse and complex relationships between religious theory, practice and media and the technologies that enable their transference. Students taking this course are expected to engage with the different ways in which religion is theorised, interpreted and practiced as a medium of communication and the ways religion is publicised, textualised, mediated and visualised.

20 NQF credits at NQF level 6

Convener: Professor L Green

Course entry requirements: At least second-year status, or at the discretion of the Head of Department.

This course invites students to critically examine sustainability and habitability by engaging with global and continental frameworks, waste ecologies, urban planning, and science communication. It begins with an exploration of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and Agenda 2063, questioning their future visions and the assumptions they carry. It also invites students to investigate sustainability as a contested concept, asking who defines it and who benefits from its implementation. The course will then shift to material landscapes, looking at landfills as sites where waste, value, and politics intersect. It also explores the phenomenon of greenwashing, exposing the ways sustainability is co-opted by corporate and state agendas. Soil health and contamination emerge as key concerns, linking environmental degradation to food security, public health, and ecological resilience. Urban planning and waste management are examined in relation to broader questions of public health and social justice. An interdisciplinary approach underpins the course, introducing a range of research methods that equip students to analyse sustainability and waste from multiple perspectives. Attention is also given to soil restoration as a pathway to planetary habitability, encouraging big-picture thinking. The course concludes with a focus on science communication, citizen science, and collaboration, preparing students to engage critically with sustainability research and action.
